Dear Kougars,

We've hung together through it all in 2003-2004. We've eaten 52 slices of pizza, hundreds of pounds of chicken fries, and enough freedom fries to last a lifetime.

We've been through wins and losses as we went beyond the expectations to bring sectional victories to the Valley, rave reviews for plays like Our Town, and awards in some of our classes, such as journalism.

Not only did we push past the limitations for the familiar, but we satisfied our curiosity for the new with programs like the newly introduced Pilot Program.

Even though we were individuals, each unique in our interests, hobbies, and studies, we strived to be the best, and we did it together, Tied with Pride.

Sincerely,
Courtney and Amanda

Tired, Why Wait?

When asking a variety of students if they slept in class, I got answers like, "Yeah I sleep in class. I won't lie." Other students said no, "I don't sleep because it's disrespectful, and it is hard to fall asleep because it's not very comfortable."

If students fell asleep in Mrs. Price's class, she would wake them up by sprinkling water on them.

Mr. Price was known to shock students with "The Shocker" to wake them up or just stand by their desk and talk very loud.

Mr. Norwine used a different method, he called on you when he noticed you were dozing off, and then stood by your desk and spoke loudly until you woke up and picked your head up.

Another teacher mentioned when the subject of sleeping in class came up was Mr. Black. He used the technique called "The Earthquake." When he noticed someone sleeping, he shook their desk.

The last class that a student mentioned was study hall. If you fell asleep, Mrs. Sohn poured water on you.

When asking students about any embarrassing moments when they woke up, or when they were sleeping, I got responses like "I fell asleep in Mrs. Sherwood's Algebra II class, and when I woke up, I knocked all my books off my desk," commented Sophomore Keith Hoffman.

"I dozed off in Mr. Vanderlaan's Current Issue class, and if he didn't have a class afterwards, I would have slept through my next hour class," said Junior Elijah Richardson.

"When I dozed off in one of my classes, waking up with a jolt and having everyone notice embarrassed me," commented Senior Jennifer Allen.

"My most embarrassing memory was, when I fell asleep in English, and I jerked it my sleep and hit the person in front of me," said Junior Aleesha Wall.

Four miles a day keeps the doctor away...

After thinking to myself, "How much do we walk DURING school each day?" I decided to look up some facts. What I found was generally surprising. American Heart Association stated that we needed to walk four miles every day to maintain a healthy life-style. Four miles a day? It was my guess that we could, in fact, handle that.

So in accordance, I decided to do an experiment. For three days, I wore a pedometer, a mile-counter, around school. The results turned out different than I had expected. It turned out that the average number of miles I walked for all three days was 1.6 miles.

So with only walking 1.5 miles during school hours, many teens were overweight. It seemed that one place teens could get exercise was at after school athletic programs. Unfortunately, coaches saw a decline in upperclassmen in these programs.

"I can't say that I've seen a lessening interest-meaning fewer girls on the team-but I do notice from year to year that we lose a few girls by the time they're seniors. Some of that is jobs or other responsibilities. For me, sometimes the hard thing to say is that, as some young girls mature, it's hard for them to remain athletically competitive," said track and field coach, Mr. Tim Adams.

In the end, we still went to the movies, ate the buttery popcorn, drank the diet pop, and scarfed down a box of junior mints, in spite of the American Heart Association's advice. After all, we were still just kids, and eating pizza and candy, while not maintaining a healthy exercise program like walking, was what we did best.

Dialogues involving props, such as fuzzy purple telephones, were used quite often in various foreign language classes. "I liked talking to Ryan on the fake phones; it allowed me to have fun while doing homework," commented Warren.

Practicing for Powder Puff. Junior girls prepare to make an instructed play. Practices started at six in the morning and lasted until seven. Powder Puff players practiced for the one hour each day for three weeks. The game took place on October 2, with seniors taking the victory, 36-12. "Waking up at 6:30 in the morning to practice for an hour with the sun still down was a little tough, but it was so much fun that I kept returning every morning to do it again!" said junior Jessie Fuqua.

Do unto others as you want to be done unto...

Following the age-old saying, Do unto others as you would have others do unto you, we Kougars provided our community with many services.

We held numerous food drives, bake sales for various clubs, annual penny wars to raise money for Riley's Children Hospital, and Christmas Angel Tree opportunities in order to provide gifts.

"I really enjoyed providing someone with Christmas gifts who couldn't otherwise have any. I had fun shopping and wrapping all of her gifts. I plan on doing it next year," said Sophomore Ashley Pierson, who, along with all journalism students, provided a gift for an 8- year old girl.

Student Council hosted a student exchange with Kouts. together as one, to spread Kougars love and spirit everywhere.

Scott Lowan-Lowski

Providing friendship, whether in the form of food, money, or just being there for someone in need, became our goal. Through clubs and individual donations, we strived to put others before ourselves. We helped raise holiday money for one family, supplied kids with Christmas gifts, and provided service for others throughout the community.

WEEK OF THE COUGARS!

Students had tremendous amounts of school spirit during Homecoming week. Between the grape spitting contest, decorating of the doors and windows, and the parade, students had opportunities for tons of fun during the week of September 29-October 3. Freshman Candice DeFries said, "I think it is important to participate in spirit week because it gets everyone rowdy, and it's a lot of fun."

Other activities included Bad Hair day, Fake an injury day, Class colors and Jersey/ Fan Red/White day, and Camouflage day.

Junior Cassandra Pollard said, "One of the days most people actually participate in is pajama day because it is the easiest."

Even the teachers were involved in the week of pride. "Pajama/Bad hair day by far is my favorite, I love getting up at 7am and going straight to school like that. I'd like to do that all year. Then maybe high school would be less about appearance and more about what's real," said Mr. Kingma.

Mr. Oliver's 4th hour class earned a free pizza party for winning the door decorating contest. Senior Dwight Hewitt said, "It represented the whole school for what it's all about. We never give up, no matter what the challenge. We're tough!"

Throughout the week, classes worked together to try to raise points for the spirit stick. Points for the spirit stick were earned by dress up days, hall decorations, and lunch time activities.

Penny wars, which also counted as points toward the spirit stick, raised $800 for Riley's Children's Hospital. Classes bombed each other by adding silver change to the opponents' jars. This silver negated an equal amount of pennies that were in the jar.

Waving to the crowd Seniors Kelly Foley, Anna Gatlin, and Lindsey Peo sit on the float they made for the parade in Wheatfield. Most students dressed in camouflage during the game and parade to support the theme of spirit week.

Cruising in a Corvette, Senior Danielle Brubaker waves to the crowd. She was a nominee for the Senior class in the Homecoming court, which competed for the title of Homecoming Queen. Later that night, she was crowned Homecoming Queen.

"Jeff McMillian worked hard all summer long balancing three sports (football, basketball, and golf). Jeff earned himself a starting spot as tightend on offense, and also a defensive end. During the first game of the year against Munster, Jeff got hurt right before half-time. As a result of the injury, Jeff was not able to play in another game the rest of the year."

During Homecoming week activities, Sophomore Benjamin Lewis participates in the grape spitting contest. Freshman Nick Mackel looked in amazement as Ben spit the grape farther than anyone else who had spit so far.

Playing their instruments in the parade that was held in Wheatfield, Freshman Kelth Axtell, Sophomore Killasandra Szczepaniak, Senior Stephanie Pacoud, and Freshman Anne Janavich all march on beat.

FUN FACTS

1. 4th hour activities had grape spitting, decorating their doors, push-up contest, arm wrestling contest, army crawl, and hide and go seek.

2. Monday was pajama day/ bad hair day, Tuesday was fake an injury day, Wednesday was class color day, Thursday was jersey/super fan/ red and white day, and Friday was camouflage day.

#Homecoming

While marching in the Homecoming parade in Wheatfield, Freshman Ashley Thomas does a flag routine. "Guard is fun, and we should have more people involved. We had a competition in guard, and we lost, but we still had lots of fun," said Thomas.

Showing off their school spirit, Senior Dwight Hewitt, Mr. Oliver, stand by their Homecoming week door that won the door contest. They also supported the Powder Puff game by wearing shirts saying "Go Seniors."

Senior Puffers Dominate

Powder Puff was a big event. "We had a great team who got along with each other during practices, and everyone bought into what we were trying to accomplish as a team," said Senior Coach Mr. Kaluf. Seniors chalked up a second win in two years with a score of 36 to 12. "Powder Puff was a bunch of fun, except for those morning practices. Right Girls!?" said Cassandra Pollard.

Senior and Junior girls trained for the game. Every day the girls were at practice from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. Seniors had a playbook and a secret play. Although the Juniors did not have a playbook, they did have a secret play.

"I loved playing Powder Puff, and I am definitely going to play next year. Powder Puff really brought the Junior girls together. We were up for a hard competition against the Seniors and we faced it." Junior - Alesia Borden.

Seniors who scored points at the game were Jessica Richards, Heather Zylstra, Brook Owens, Tiana Jungles and Rebecca Thomason. Juniors who scored were Kathryn Huhn and Jenny Matusiak. Officials for the game were Mr. Gray, Mr. Greenlee, Mr. Adams and Mr. Armstrong.

Senior coaches were Mr. Kaluf and Mr. Jones, and the Junior coaches were Mrs. Valenkamph and Mr. Sterrett. "Powder Puff is a ton of fun. It feels good to come together after the game and celebrate victory," replied Senior - Megan Hinchy.

Senior year was better without a doubt for Amber Cooper. "Senior year is better than Junior year because you know the plays." Amber said. Cooper added "The most memorable moment was when we all went over to Lindsay Peo's house and had a pizza party before the game."

Before the football is put into play, Junior Kathryn Huhn gets ready to grab one of the offensive player's flags. Although it was her first year on the field, Huhn knew what was needed to succeed.

Six fun facts about Powder Puff.

1. Powder Puff gate receipt was $3,300.00.
2. Seniors used "Get Low" by Lil' John and The Eastside Boys as their theme song.
3. Junior chant was "I ain't never scared" (IANS) by Bone Crusher.
4. Juniors had IANS put on the back of their playing shorts.
5. Seniors had "Can't touch this" or "Seniors" on the back of their playing shorts.
6. Seniors purchased victory shirts before they won the game. On the back was a place to fill in the score.

Trying to catch the football, Junior Ashlee Matson puts her hands up in hopes of getting the ball. Senior Jennifer Chennowsky tried hard to pull off her flag before Ashlee got the ball. "Powder Puff was an awesome time." Junior - Ashlee Matson.

Before the whistle blows for the next play, Juniors Vicky Ounderwater, Chrissie Sullivan, April Williams, Kimberly Kulper, Megan Passaloukos, Megan Bierma, and Tonya Burst focus on how to make a touchdown. The Seniors succeeded in blocking the Juniors.

Cheer for the Kougars!

Quiet reigned across the gym as Mr. Black paused before announcing "Juniors" had won the spirit stick! The gym went crazy as the Juniors screamed, and the Seniors looked on in amazement. Junior Jennifer Bennett cried, "When I heard Mr. Black announce that we had won the spirit stick, all my friends and I jumped on each other. It was a memorable experience that I'll never forget."

It was a long week of spirit activities, excitement, and anticipation for the upcoming pep session. Students piled into the gym ready to scream and jump. Pep session started when all the fall sports players walked across the floor as everyone applauded their friends. Soon the cheerleaders were doing their dance in camouflage, and leading the school in cheers to pep up the spirit.

Fighting with Joshua Wierzbza, the Indian from Calumet, the Kougars needed some help from Senior Shawn Kuiper, and then a group of Senior students. In the end, the Kougars and the students won, and the Indian was carried away. Sophomore Ashley Pierson said, "The fighting was so intense and really got everyone into the moment. I think it was the best pep session we've ever had."

Freshmen, Sophomores, and Seniors did a great job at the Lip Sync, but it was the Juniors who brought it all together. When it was time to give away the Powder Puff award, the Seniors were pumped as Mr. Black announced their victory. The band played the school song, and everyone was dismissed.

Walking across the gym floor, Seniors Megan Diaz, Melissa Strehler, Sophomore Cassandra Coffey, Seniors Tiana Jungels, Rebecca Thomason, and Lorrie Lewallen receive recognition for playing on the schools soccer team this fall. The girls soccer team won 11 games out of 17.

Participating in the fourth hour activities, Sophomores Laura Vanderlugt and Clarisa Bonilla enjoy doing the army crawl in the cafeteria during lunch. After a close race, Laura Vanderlugt won the race.

Seniors Kevin Lewis and Eric VanKley performed the Senior lip sync. They performed an energetic dance to "Drama" by David Banner which pumped up the Seniors as well as the other students. Senior Mark Terborg said, "I liked the technical moves they did and how the guys got involved! It made it really cool." Accompanying Eric and Kevin in the dance was Senior Kellen Patrick.

Performing in front of the school, Freshmen Chelsea Castillo and Jodi Anderson enthusiastically do the "shopping-cart" for the Lip Sync. "We went in there thinking we were going to bomb, but as soon as we started, the crowd went insane!" said Castillo.

Showing their spirit, Seniors Ange Oliver, Katelyn Blakely, Courtney Grevenstuk, Tiffany Owens, and Kacie Woods held up a sign supporting the Seniors. Senior cheerleader Justyne Kondos looks on with the other Seniors as they waited to see who won the spirit stick.

5 interesting facts about the Lip Sync.

1. Freshmen danced to "Hit me with your best shot" by Pat Benetar.
2. Sophomores danced to "Mickey" by Paula Abdul.
3. Juniors danced to "Shake your Tail Feathers" by Nelly, P-Diddy, and Murphy Lee.
4. Seniors danced to "Drama" by David Banner.
5. It was a close call between the Seniors and Juniors, but the Juniors won the Lip Sync.

Dancing to her part in the Lip Sync, Sophomore Carmen VanKley practices in the auditorium after school. "It was a lot of fun performing in front of everybody and not caring about how stupid we looked or were acting," she exclaimed.

Standing her ground for the Junior Lip Sync, Junior Elizabeth Sutton strikes a final pose with her foot on William Whitely as he lays on the ground. Juniors worked the crowd with dance moves and energetic attitudes, winning the Lip Sync.

Brubaker; Team "Chalks" Up Victories

Homecoming was one week in the school year that everyone looked forward to in so many ways. Kougars had dress up days, the powder puff game and activities, door decorating contests and a whole bunch of school spirit.

Crowning of the new queen, Danielle Brubaker, was a very emotional time for many people. "The moment was wonderful. There were a lot of emotions all mixed up, but the experience was worth it," said Senior Danielle Brubaker. Everybody wanted their friend to win.

"I definitely think that Danielle Brubaker was the right choice for Homecoming Queen. She has a great personality, and she's beautiful. I think that she takes the position very well," said Sophomore Caitlin Sittema.

After struggling through the first three quarters, the gridders came back with the help of Erik DeKock who scored the winning touch down. "I wanted to win. At that time, scoring was all that mattered. I didn't want to let the team down after Franklin (Eden) made a great catch to put us that close to the endzone," said Senior Erik DeKock. Thanks to the team's dedication and love for the game, and Prescott's new leadership, we showed our opponents who the Kougars really were by winning our Homecoming game. That's an achievement that our school can be proud of for many years to come.

It didn't matter how cold it was outside to Sophomores Mal-lory Wierzb, Megan Anderson, and Jessica Nuss, who came out to support their football team irregardless of the cold wind at Fred Jones Field.

For the past few years, Mr. Mike Peo has assisted in coaching the football team. Peo, who played for KV from 1992 - 1996, remembered the emotion of Homecoming games. With his help, the team came together and won the game 29-28.

"I was really happy with how we came back and won the game," said Coach Peo.

Playing at half time, Freshman Keith Axtel, Senior Rebecca Fraley, and Freshman Lindsey Tobias show their school spirit through their music. Marching Bands performance earned them a first at area competition.

Receiving the sash from 2002-2003 Homecoming Queen, Sarah Clark, Senior Danielle Brubaker accepts with a smile. Brubaker was able to walk across the field to receive the honor in spite of recovering from a broken pelvis.

Three Fun Facts about Homecoming Night

1. At the annual Smash the Car, in spite of the fact that the sledge hammer was broken, around $200 was made.
2. Considering how cold and windy it was outside, Homecoming drew a large crowd.
3. This was the first year in four years that we won Homecoming.

Cheerleading on the night of Homecoming, Juniors Janelle Kondos and Brittney Luketic scream Gimmie a 'K.' Popular cheers always earned a response from the fans.

In a home game against the Calumet Warriors, #7 Junior Gentry Brown makes his way toward the endzone. Players like him gave KV pride.

Hi Friends,

Wow, have we accomplished a lot this year. Just in the first four months, Senior Katie Nuss was named a National Merit Foundation Applicant, and Senior Bailee Serocinski played Clara in the Christmas production, The Nutcracker, at the Star Plaza. Then there were all the Rotary winners, 1st nine weeks perfect attendance awards, and the honor-roll recipients who received pins, magnets, bumper stickers, and donuts. We have had four super seniors.

Right before Thanksgiving break, Mrs. Bulla left us for another job. Ms. Norris was teaching Mrs. Garrison's science classes while she was out for maternity leave, but we worked together through the hard times, all TIED WITH PRIDE.

Showing off her ballet costume from the Nutcracker, Senior Bailee Serocinski poses for a picture after performing on Wednesday, Dec. 3 and Thurs. December 4 at the Star Plaza Theatre in Merrillville. In addition to getting the lead role as Clara this year, she also starred as Clara at Star Plaza five years ago for her first time. She also taught dance for the Prairie Arts Council in Rensselaer and Imperial Dance South of DeMotte.

While sitting in Mr. Black's English 11 class, Lindsey works on a group project. She likes this class because there is a variety of people and Mr. Black makes it interesting. Her next class would be Mrs. Miller's painting class. Her other favorite class is Mrs. Miller's Painting 1 class. "Painting 1 is a very relaxing class. I enjoy just sitting back and painting. It's unlike my other classes. I'm not so stressed out about getting good grades."

Seniors Reflect On

Memories

Walking the halls for what seemed like the millionth time, seniors prepared to say goodbye on June 6 at Graduation. The end loomed near for each and every senior as they made plans for college, careers, and families. Although most were anxious to leave, seniors reflected on fond memories.

"Although I am ready to leave this place, not everything was bad. I had good teachers, good friends, and good dances. In fact, I have quite a few good memories, but with that, I also have the not so good times," said Amanda Anderson.

The hard times included facing harsh realities about the world. With three or more classmates involved in life changing car crashes, seniors reflected on what was truly important. Also, with the stress of college looming ahead, seniors became a bit crazy. SAT's, college applications, scholarship forms, career choices, or just plain graduating weighed on each student's mind.

With many victories to their name, the senior class left their impact on the school.

Powderpuff players claimed wins two years in a row. Bailee Serocinski played Clara in the The NutCracker at the Star Plaza, and Katie Nuss was named a National Merit Foundation Applicant, as well as starring in 42nd Street at the Valparaiso Opera House. There were also many Super Seniors, including Randy Ivanov, Samuel Kent, and Stephanie Kikkert. Then, Robert Jabaay went to Indiana University to run in state competitions for cross country.

The program called Senior Leaders, where seniors helped freshmen find their way in high school, offered fun memories for all. "Senior Leaders was a great program that I really enjoyed. The freshmen that my partner and I worked with were great. In fact, I wish them luck in their future years of high school," said Jo Ellen Wright.

Senior Class officers:
Row one: Bailee Serocinski, secretary and Megan Kwasniewski, treasurer. Row two: Amanda Bonilla, vice president and Anna Gatlin, president.

"By going to school events and actually caring about school. I'll paint my face, wear a kilt, and scream and yell till I have no voice."

-Senior Eric Bakrevski

He Said

"I show school spirit by interacting with my teachers in order to make learning fun and enjoyable for both me and my teachers." This can best be done by questioning everything."

-Senior Brandon Patton

How do you show school spirit?

"I participate in many school activities. When I'm there, I fully support our school. When we're still not doing well, I keep a smile on my face to keep spirits up!" Justyne was a cheerleader during all four years of high school."

-Senior Justyne Kondos

She Said

"I show school spirit by being a cheerleader. Also, I am involved in Kougat Krazies, Student Council and many other clubs. I like to dress up for all of the dress up days during Winterfest and Homecoming week. I also like the other spirit week activities (like grape spitting)."

-Senior Brianna Kingma

During "A" Lunch, Seniors Tiana Jungels and Krysten Gunter converse while finishing their lunches. Favorite lunches included pizza, popcorn chicken plate, shrimp plate, hot turkey sandwich, bread sticks, cheese sticks, Hostess, water, Snapple and an assortment of chips/pretzels/crackers.

Seniors Reflect On

Online connections

As high school drew to a close, seniors experienced many fads. Shirts with a personalized letter on them, golf hats, and giant rings were among the many newly introduced items. The biggest fad, though, to hit society was on-line dating and chatting.

"I think on-line dating was popular because people could be whoever they wanted to be, or they could have more say so on whom they dated. I heard a lot of girls talk about their boyfriends that they met online," said Senior Timothy Bledsoe.

Teens opted for the easier way of dating through various websites. All that was required was a picture, a profile, and availability. Match.com, emode.com, americansingles.com, and lavalife.com were some of the more popular sites.

Although these were offered all over the web, some students did not agree with what was offered.

"I think on-line dating is stupid, because you don't know what the people really look like. Some people lie on-line. If you meet, they could be 40, and you'd be in your teens. You don't know if that person is even a guy or girl. They could use a fake picture. That's why I think on-line dating is stupid," said Senior Emily Walters.

Along with dating on-line, there were other sources of fun that emphasized relationships, physical attributes, and "true love." Tickle by Emode.com offered over 150 different "fun time" quizzes that let teens discover such things as their theme song, why they were single, and quizzes telling them what kind of dog they'd be, or if it was really true love.

Another site, HotOrNot.com, let teens "rate" one another by viewing a picture of the opposite sex and clicking on the scale from 1-10. This provided much amusement for seniors.

"I got on the web site Hot or Not just for fun. I think it is really funny when you see someone from school you know. You can just rate them, and have some fun with that," said Senior Amanda Schaper.

Standing with her boyfriend, Eric VanKley, after being announced Homecoming Queen, senior Danielle Brubaker shares her special moment while smiling towards the crowd. Other senior representatives for the Homecoming Court included April Pirlot, Whitney Prochno, and Alison Jonkman.

"Definitely the guy! That's how it's always been.

-Senior Andrew Klemp

Who should pay for the date?

She Said

"Both, because if the boy is taking you then he should pay. Now if the girl is taking the guy out, then she should pay just to make it fair."

-Senior Emily Walters

"I think it depends on how long the girl and the guy have been dating. If it's just a casual dating sort of thing, then I think the guy should pay. If they've been dating for a while, I think the girl should put some money into something because they are working together on a future."

Seniors Reflect On Today's Lingo

As time went on from year to year, the words and phrases students used were somewhat strange to teachers and adults. This senior class was no different. Words and phrases such as "tight" and "I'm straight" were very popular terms for the class of 2004.

Most of the students kept these slang terms outside of the classroom and used this lingo on their own time in the hallways, but every so often they would say it in the classroom. Some of the teachers who caught on to this trend were Mr. Price, Mr. Norwine, and Mrs. Steiner. One student recalled when Mrs. Steiner said "snap" to the classes. Mr. Norwine talked several times to his U.S. History class about his "spinner rims at Wal-Mart". Mr. Price said "Don't go there girlfriend," and, "I do what I want" to his ICP classes.

Some of the other phrases were: "fo real," "wat up which u," "you feel me," "keep it gangsta," "u trippin'," "straight up," "fo shizzle my nizzle," "g-unit," "up in da hood," "it ain't no thang," "bling bling," "u know wat I'm sayin'," "oh gurrll," "fo sho," "aight," "get out my grill". Students called people, "boo," "shorty," and "baby gurrll," and we all knew that some of us lived in "D-Town"!

Most sayings originated from some type of advertisement, movie, or song that was popular at the time. Students began typing faster when chatting, yet still used the slangs that became a normal part of their everyday school language. Senior Amanda Schaper, said, "I think today's lingo is hilarious. Some people actually think that they sound cool, but in all actuality they are just making a huge fool out of themselves."

Definitions

*Fo real- For real
Wats poppin?- what's goin on?
You feelin me?- do you understand?
Keep it gangsta- keeping things ghetto
Fo shizzle my nizzle- for sure
G-unit- group
Tight- cool

Up in da hood- where you live
It ain't no thang- it's nothing
Bling bling- big jewelry
Aight- alright
Get out my grill- get out of my face
Boo- my boy/my girl
I'm Straight- I'm good/fine

Working in the office during fourth hour, Senior Abby Albin says she learned responsibility. In the morning, Abby worked outside of school in the Medical Occupations program. After finishing a semester of classwork, Abby was able to investigate careers in the medical field through hands on experience three days a week at the hospital and one day a week at a nursing home.

"My Saturday mornings usually consist of me sleeping until about 12:00-12:30, and then I get a huge bowl of Lucky Charms. I usually eat my cereal in front of the TV because I like to watch cartoons."

-Senior Scott Osborn

He Said

"I really don't do a lot on my Saturdays. I sleep in as long as I possibly can, and then I get up and watch some TV, or sit around. That's really about it. Then I go out later that night."

-Senior Michael Clark

How do you spend your Saturdays?

"My Saturday morning consists of sleeping until I have to get up and going to work at Wal-Mart in the good old shoe department where I work until 10 p.m. Then, I go home and hang out with my boyfriend Jeff."

-Senior April Pirlo

She Said

"I wake up around 10:00 in the morning. I get my big bowl and fill it with Honey Combs. Then I kick back and relax while watching the cartoon channel. It's the best way to start my day!"

Seniors Reflect On Irritability

"Where do I begin? I never thought as a senior I would get annoyed as much as I do. Man was I wrong. From waking up at 7:30 a.m. to dealing with midget freshmen all day long, it's a wonder I'm still here," said Senior Kammi Luyon.

There was a lot that seniors dealt with that they never knew they would have to. They never thought they would get so annoyed so easily. (There were many little bubble tests and information sheets they had to fill out.) From S.A.T.s to college applications, from parents to car problems to bills that led to after school jobs, it was a wonder that seniors ever got any sleep. Thus, there was a major case of Irritability here at KV.

Senior Kristen Yenchus commented, "As a senior, I get really annoyed by freshmen. For example, they like to act way too old. They dress like they are in their 20's and wear way too much makeup."

Seniors also said they felt pressure about graduating, and some said they did not really want to leave family, so they decided to stay close to home. However, Senior Veronica Malocha said, "I don't have many pressures. I have always known what I wanted to do in my future." Senior Nicholas Schmidt added, "I'm not going to college because I have a good job right now, so I don't have many pressures to look forward to."

Another main issue for seniors was Senioritis. "If senioritis includes not wanting to get out of bed in the morning or coming to school in pajamas and slippers, then you better believe I have it. But as for graduating, I'm not counting down the days yet. In fact, I'm really nervous about going to college," commented Senior Courtney Grevenstuk.

A final annoyance was big projects at the end of the school year. All seniors wanted was to get out of high school. Instead, they got stuck with reports and projects. By June, they were ready to graduate and move on to the next big step and see what was ahead of them.

In fifth hour speech class, Senior Veronica Nikolas gives her demonstration speech on how to clean and take care of a hermit crab. This was the second speech she gave in Speech I.

"My favorite pick-up line

"My favorite pick-up line would have to be, Aren't you in my history class? I over heard someone say this in the hallway one day and couldn't stop laughing!"

Senior Todd Hentsefel

He Said

"This is by far the hardest quote I've been asked to give. There are a lot of corny pick-up lines. The cornier they are, the better. Favorites of mine include, 'Did it hurt when you fell from heaven?' and 'Are those your eyes or did someone put stars in your face?'"

Senior Devin Dorn

What's your funniest pick-up line?

"Hello, I am a robber, and I want to steal your heart." A guy didn't actually say this to me, but I did over hear him saying it to someone else. I always tell my friends this line because it's so hilarious!"

Senior Courtney Whitlock

She Said

"You're so cool, you make me jealous. This is by far my favorite pick-up line. I used it on these guys, and they laughed at me because they didn't get it. The funny thing is that later that day I heard the same guys tell ME line to someone else!"

The 2003 Prom King Jono Simpson and Queen Brandy Colbert attended Prom to award and pass on the crowns. Prom

King was Caleb Rice, and his Queen

Jamie Fritz took time out of dancing for a quick picture. A top hat was awarded as the crown for the king, while a tiara was the queen's crown.

Prom Court nominees:

Front: Queen Jamie Fritz, Lindsay Peo
Row 2: Michelle Berg, Megan Diaz, Jennifer Allen, Princess Elizabeth Sutton

As her name is called out for Prom Queen, Senior Jamie Fritz, reacts to the applause and surprise from the crowd. "Woohoo! Winning Prom queen was way rad. I was soo psyched! I felt so special to know that people like me. It's an awesome feeling and such an honor. Thank you!" said Jamie.

Prom "All That Dazz"

Flapper girls Shannon Abrell, Ashton DeVries and Jessie Russ entertain Prom goers by performing a rendition of "All That Jazz."

All That Jazz

Most agreed that Prom was definitely one of the highlights of high school, not only for the juniors on the Prom committee and their sponsors Mrs. Heather Carey and Mrs. Jill Steiner, but also for the seniors. As they entered the Porter County Expo Center on May 2, seniors were greeted by tables filled with a decorative lamp, fidora, faux jewelry, mini feather boas and white gloves. Prom favors included little black books and a keepsake picture box. The five hour extravaganza cost each of the 175 couples $50 to $60 and the 20 singles paid $25.

Entertainment was provided by the "Flapper Girls" who brought to life the theme when Ashton DeVries sang "All That Jazz" and Jessie Nuss and Shannon Abrell danced in the background. After dinner was served, the dance floor opened and soon filled up. Junior Jamie Anderson said, "My favorite part of Prom was slow dancing with my boyfriend, Kris to "You Will Always Be My Baby" by Mariah Carey. It was so special, and I enjoyed spending time with him.

Prom means so much more when you have someone to enjoy it with."

Post Prom was held at Inman's in Valparaiso. Unlimited pizza, drinks, karaoke, pool, bowling, and video games were provided. Junior Victoria Onderwater said, "I had a blast at Post Prom, and my favorite part was bowling. Even though we were all so bad at it, we still had the time of our lives."

After the hustle and bustle of Prom and Post Prom, many went home exhausted while others continued on. Junior Elizabeth Sutton said, "After Post Prom I got a limo from 3 a.m. until 6 a.m. and a bunch of my friends and myself went to Wal-Mart and breakfast at Denny's."

Some Prom goers used the day after Prom to catch up on some much needed sleep, while others kept the fun going by traveling to Great America, baseball games, downtown Chicago, Indianapolis, or Indiana Beach. Junior Brittany LaCosse said, "The day after Prom my friends and I went to Indiana Beach. It was really fun and the weather was good too."

Enjoying a break from dancing, Seniors Eric VanKley and Devin Dorn talk to Junior Justin DeKoch after dinner at Prom. Eric VanKley said, "My favorite part of Prom was visiting with all of my friends, eating a lot of food, and the trip we took after Prom to Chicago. It was really fun."

Eating dinner at Prom Seniors Randy Jeanov, Ricole Granger, Allison Jonkman, and Eric Drake talk about the music and decorations. Ricole Granger said, "Prom was really fun, and I enjoyed it more I think because it's my senior year. I will remember that night for the rest of my life."

Saying Good-bye

On June 6, at 2pm, 212 students bid their farewells to teachers, friends, and even some mentors at Graduation.

Class of 2004 set a record with 90 students receiving a Core 40 Diploma, and 45 receiving an Academic Honors Diploma. Another change was a Co-Valedictorian Speech given by Jennifer Chernowsky and Maire Gurevitz, in which Gurevitz urged her fellow students to become more active, and said, "Let's set out to make a history that we can be proud of." Other speeches were given by the Salutatorian, Randy Ivanov, and Class President Anna Gatlin.

"We were all changed through these times. We've grown a lot stronger, and we've grown a lot wiser," said Gatlin during her speech.

Class motto said, "We observe a celebration of freedom- Symbolizing an end as well as a beginning- Signifying renewal as well as change", quoted by John F. Kennedy. Class Flower: Peppermint Carnation, Class Colors: Red, White and Black.

Called forward by Dr. Laura Boilini as "Our Special Senior," Joseph Nimetz was escorted to the stage by his brother Jake, and mother Debra. While receiving his folder, Nimetz was given a standing ovation by his fellow graduates, as well as the community.

Graduation was that last challenge students had to get through to accomplish one goal they had in life. To some graduates high school was the hardest thing they could've done while others looked forward to moving on to harder things to accomplish. "High school challenged me, but I know that college is going to be much more challenging," said Amber Cooper.

"Our class has never been afraid to push limits," said Co-Valedictorian Chernowsky about the graduates of 2004.

"Seventy percent of graduates are headed on to a higher education, while eight percent of them will enter military service," said Head Guidance Counselor John Michael.

While concentrating on painting her flower, Junior Lindsey Brooker exclaims, "I really enjoy taking a painting class this year. After all my other busy classes, painting is a break and also has been a great way to vent out the stress of a school day!"

Juniors Reflect On Almost There

While many of the 230 members in the class of 2005 were unsure of their future, some knew exactly what they wanted out of life. "I want to further my education and live my life before getting married and starting a family," said Junior Meagan Clarich.

Juniors watched as Homecoming court representative Jamie Anderson, escorted by Justin DeKock, walked across the 50 yard line. Even though the junior girls lost to the senior girls (36-12) in the Powder Puff game, the junior class won the Spirit Stick in a close call with the seniors.

As the days of school unfolded, juniors were led by class President Jeremy Kunzman, under the direction of class sponsors Mrs. Heather Carey and Mrs. Jill Steiner.

While many were relieved to only have one more year of school remaining, some were a little uneasy. Junior Kathryn Huhn said, "I'm not ready to be a senior yet, but I love being an upperclassman."

Another plus of being a junior was being able to finally make decisions and start to think about the future. Meagan Davidson said, "We are more responsible, and people such as the freshmen and teachers look at us differently."

One other perk was finally being able to help plan the Prom and Post-Prom. Prom was held on May 1 at the Porter County Expo Center, and Post-Prom was at Inman's in Valparaiso. Prom's theme was the "Roaring Twenties." Although teens were encouraged by Prom Sponsor, Mrs. Steiner, to dress in the nostalgic outfits, it was not required. In order to raise funds for the annual event, juniors held many fundraisers, including a spaghetti dinner on February 7.

Finishing up her homework, Junior Ashley VanKley works hard to complete her assignment. VanKley was the Vice President of Pathfinders and was on the swim team. VanKley was very involved out of school as well. She was in a church band and worked at McDonalds. She looked forward to going to beauty school and also considered going into the culinary arts. VanKley said, "I am looking forward to starting a family and the rest of life."

Sophomores Reflect On In The Middle

Starting out the new year, Sophomores knew a little more than Freshmen. As a Sophomore, they knew how to get where they needed to go easily and seemed more relaxed.

In reply to the question what does it feel like "being in the middle" Eric Sullivan said, "It's like being the cheese in a turkey sandwich."

Ann Dykstra replied, "Being in the middle is not really hard or easy. You're just kind of there. It's actually pretty fun, and you don't have to worry about being a freshman or a senior."

Classes seemed to be a little harder. Many Sophomores said that Digital Electronics and Algebra II were their hardest classes. Although Jordon VanWienen said, "My hardest class this year is probably Biology II because it's getting harder, and I have never really liked it."

As the sophomores became more aware of their futures and making plans for college, some students even went on campus visits with 21st Century Scholars, which helped open up more choices for the Class of 2006. Although it took a lot of hard work to get through another year, they still found time to have fun.

Christine Miles commented, "I'm always looking for fun, but I'm also serious about learning, and in high school you can do both."

Sophomore class officers were President Cole Patrick, Vice President Patrick Prochno, Treasurer Rachel Kikkert and Secretary Destiny Baccino. As officers they had to take on many tasks. Rachel Kikkert and Cole Patrick decorated the hallway for Homecoming week. Although the sophomore hallway didn't turn out the way we had imagined, it was still bunches of fun," recalled Rachel Kikkert. Destiny Baccino organized the lip sync.

Cole Patrick also put together the float for the Homecoming parade.

Overall they just wanted to make their high school career as enjoyable as possible.

Ashton DeVries is on honor roll and is working hard towards her honor diploma. She was chosen as the schools representative to the state leadership seminar for the class of 2006. She is involved in many different activities including all-state choir and community chorus. She plays the piano, violin, and guitar. She also takes singing lessons. She says, "Performing is my passion. Whether I am singing, acting, or playing an instrument, I love being on the stage." Her drama teacher, Mrs. Steiner, said, "I enjoy having her in class. She is a hard working and dedicated student."

Sophomores Reflect On Driving

"Freedom," cried the Sophomores, as they reached the age of 16, one month and one day which heralded the beginning of their driving life. For many of the Sophomores getting their driver's license was the most exciting event of the year.

"It was really exciting to be able to go wherever I desired," said Ryan Smeltzer. Typical of a new driver, his first destination was his friend Andrew's house.

The gas station was also another popular destination, as the young drivers quickly found out that cars required a lot of gas, and consequently a great deal of money, to operate.

A number of students commented on how much better it was to be driving to school, than to have to get on the bus. Most students said that they slept later when they drove to school than when they rode the bus.

Although most of the Sophomores wanted to drive to school as soon as they got their license, many were not allowed to or did not have an automobile to get to school. Meagan Anderson commented, "I wasn't able to drive to school as soon as I got my license because I didn't have a car."

When Stephani Mann was asked if she drove to school the first day of having her license, she replied, "Yeah definitely, why not? What's the point of riding the cheese wagon (the school bus) if you can drive?"

The majority of parents would not allow their teens to go far from home. When asked where the first place she went was, Jamie VanderMolen answered, "I wanted to go to the mall so bad, but I just drove up town." After a few months of driving experience, teens said that their parents started to let them drive to Merrillville.

Driving wasn't all fun and games as some of the Sophomores found out. It could be dangerous. "I spun around twice, hit a mailbox, and then hit a tree," said Cassie Lewandowski in regards to her first accident.

April Killion also found out just how scary an accident could be. April said, "I never really thought I'd get into an accident and when my breaks went out, I freaked out. I tried swerving off the road, so I wouldn't hit anyone, but my steering wheel locked up as well. You should always be cautious."

President of 4-H Club, trumpeter in church and for caroling, Boy Scout, and a member of the high school band were just a few of the activities in which Patrick Fraley was involved. He was also on the honor roll and earned second chair trumpet player in the high school Jazz, Concert, Marching, and Pep bands. He also helped teach younger kids on Wednesday nights. On top of all that, he still managed to have a social life and kept his grades up. His plans included earning an Honors Diploma and majoring in Computer Engineering.

Freshmen Reflect On Fundamentals

Entering high school, things got a little scary for the 282 Freshmen. Intimidating upperclassmen, stricter, tougher teachers, and for some students, the lack of older siblings or friends, contributed to Freshman fears. Finding lockers, classrooms, or bathrooms were among the topics addressed by the Senior Leaders during Freshman Fundamentals. "You may not think about this much, but I think you really changed this school year for me. Thank you," said Ana Perez.

Freshman Fundamentals was a way to get to know the school, the Seniors, and also some of the new teachers. All of the Freshmen were placed in groups such as the Dippin' Dots, The Ducktapers, and The Ninja Turtles... etc. In these groups Freshmen and the Seniors got to know each other at the end of the eighth grade year and were reunited on August 20. During the time they spent together, the Seniors took the students around the school and pointed out all of areas that would be common to the new underclassmen.

At the beginning of Freshman Fundamentals, Vice-Principal Mr. Prescott went over the student handbook. He also answered questions. After Mr. Prescott wrapped up his presentation, it was time for ice breakers. Ice breakers were used to make the freshmen and the Seniors get acquainted or in other words to "break the ice". After ice breakers it was question time. "Question Time" was designed for the Freshmen to ask general questions. For example "Who is the most fun teacher?"

Freshmen also had a motivational speaker, former student Andy Bulla. The motivational speaker talked with the freshmen about how to keep grades up and why one should make good grades. He also was there to talk about careers and how what one does during high school is extremely important for what a person wants to achieve.

Back to the gym they went. While in the gym, groups worked on a skit which was designed to express their name, group work, and creativity.

After Freshman Fundamentals, the students were asked to write a letter to their senior leaders explaining what was good about the day and to thank the Seniors who gave up their day to participate. "Thank you for helping to make us feel welcome and comfortable. This is something I will never forget as long as I live. I enjoyed this event very much, so did everyone else," recalled Michael Staples. Although not all fears were settled at Freshman Fundamentals, the Class of 2007 discovered that time helped to calm the fears.

"My biggest fear on the first day of school was not being able to keep up with the amount of homework that the teachers gave," Jodi Williamson said upon her first day of school. "I was still really excited though. I knew a lot of people, and so I knew that they would be able to show me around if I needed help. Senior Leaders during the Freshman Fundamentals made it a lot easier to find my way around too." Jodi was the Homecoming Court Representative for the 2003-2004 school year.

Freshmen Reflect On History

For the class of 2007, male students outnumbered female students by only twenty-eight in a class that made up a total of 282 students. Freshmen made up the largest class of the 2003-2004 school year.

Voted by her fellow peers, Jodi Williamson was the representative for Homecoming. She was escorted by her friend and fellow classmate, Derek Kunzman. Derek walked beside Jodi down the 50 yard line of the football field. "It was so cool being on the field with all the people looking on. I was so happy to have been chosen as representative," mentioned Jodi about her accomplishment when she received the title as Freshman representative.

The week of Homecoming for freshmen was a very exciting event because it was their first time being a part of all the fun activities. On October 3, the day of the big game, there was a pep session during everyone's last hour class period. Jodi Anderson and Chelsea Castillo performed the song "Hit Me With Your Best Shot" by Pat Benatar for the lip sync. Not only did they dress in 80's glamour outfits, but they brought back the fashionable dance moves such as "the Robot," which got all of the grades fired up.

Class of 2007 class officers included Vice-President Derek Kunzman. "Being Freshman class vice-president was an honor, and I will always do my best while being part of the Student Council Board," Kunzman commented, "Being able to help out the freshmen was one of my favorite things about being part of such a great thing in the school." Treasurer was Amanda Jackson, and Secretary was Elizabeth Weaver.

"Student Council has been a great experience. I have met so many wonderful people and also have learned to get more involved with all of the people that attend Kankakee Valley High School. My advice is that everyone should try to join Student Council sometime during their high school years if they get a chance!" said Jodi Anderson, who served as Class President and Student Council Officer.

"My biggest fear my freshman year was not having any classes with my friends. I thought that I would have no one to talk to, and that I would be really lonely. Everything had turned out like I had hoped. I cannot wait for the next three years. High school will be a blast," said Freshman Keely Woods.

KV Faculty

Energetic, young and understanding were three adjectives freshmen used to describe their new English teacher, Mrs. Hallie Chicki. Being a younger teacher she has connected well with the students in her classes.

Mrs. Chicki said that she has wanted to be a teacher, since third grade, but she didn't know if she wanted to teach English or science.

The different thing about Mrs.Chicki is that her father is our Principal Phillip Apple. His satisfaction with his teaching and administration career led Mrs.Chicki to teach.

One benefit of working with her father is that she gets to see someone she cares very much about every day. Not a lot of her students knew that her father was Principal Apple because they were all new to the high school.

It does not intimidate students or staff that her father is Mr. Apple. They think it is interesting. "People have been nothing but nice to me, and I now enjoy my job very much," said Mrs. Hallie Chicki.

Mrs. Chicki graduated from KV in 1997 and earned a B.A. from Ball State University in 2001.

Enjoying a beautiful, sunny fall afternoon, Mrs. Chicki uses the courtyard as a perfect place to study the lines of Romeo and Juliet, whose action took place on the streets of Verona. Mrs. Chicki and her class were also escaping the heat in the classroom that often accompanied the opening days of school.

Having a one on one conversation with his student, Mr. George Post and Senior Aubrey Voyles discuss economics. Economics was a time consuming required senior class. "I've learned a lot, and I will keep my economics folder for the rest of my life because of the valid information it contains," said Senior Aubrey Voyles.

Stopping to answer Junior Brian Grady's question, Mr. Jeff Mengel demonstrates his hands on teaching style. In welding class the students work is very independent except when they're learning how to do new projects.

Supporting the school motto of safety first and curriculum second.
Dr. Laura Boilini spent her days working on programs that would improve the quality of education in the corporation. She also spent numerous hours outside her office as she participated in classroom discussions, academic decathlon judging, rodeo buses and fully acquainted herself with the schools and support services during her second year as Superintendent.

You only do the assignment once. I have to grade it 60+ times," was Mrs. Carey's response to why teachers often took extended time to grade.

Although students viewed them as excuses, teachers also said, "Most of the time I tell them the truth. I haven't had the time yet or there are several people that need to take the test or quiz before I can return anything," said Mr. Gray.

Mr. Greenlee's response to the question was, "I was busy doing other things. Sorry!"

Teachers cited laziness, talking, and lack of effort as reasons for their impatience.

"I become impatient with students who came to class unprepared on more than one occasion," was what Miss. L. Groet had to say.

Mr. Nagel's response was, "I have a problem with students who have no interest in listening or participating when instructions are given, then complain that they were never taught how to do the material."

When asked what her biggest class pet peeve was, Ms. Belei said, "I hate those finger boards, (little skateboard toys) because the noise they made was maddening! I'd like to crush them all with a rubber mallet."

These were just a few of the little frustrations that made up a teacher's day.

KV Faculty

By Ashley M.

Is for Academics

Hi classmates,

Although our classes seemed to challenge us more each year, many new programs were implemented to help us fight our way through hundreds of tests, thousands of presentations, and millions of everyday assignments.

Some new programs included math labs, taught by Mrs. Judy Roberts and Mr. Herald Hostetler, and writing labs, provided by Mr. Tim Adams and Mrs. Kathy Eckert. ISTEP remediation, guided by Mrs. Anna Daniels and Mrs. Elaine Dykstra, and ESL, taught by Mrs. Gloria Kreischer, were also offered to those of us who needed the extra help.

Each was created to enhance learning abilities for us. Standards set by Indiana officials were also created to ensure each class was up to par. Classes had to cover certain topics, and our teachers worked hard to keep these goals in mind while teaching us what we needed to know.

We even added new teachers to the academic staff. Mrs. Audrey Norris and Mrs. Hallie Chicki started teaching some of us in science and English. With everything we accomplished academically, we strived to be everything we could together, TIED WITH PRIDE.

Sincerely,

Courtney and Amanda

Creating an object out of wood, Junior Bryant Barrera works quickly to finish his project during Mr. Mike McKay's class. "I like doing things with my hands and making something out of nothing. Taking a two-dimensional drawing and building it into a three-dimensional object reflects a great love of mine as an advanced woods student. Mr. McKay, I feel, enjoys teaching, and I enjoy learning from him," Bryant said.

Senior Shawn Davidson said he felt he accomplished a lot in his last year. After being named Mr. Kougar in February, he proved to be a shining student at KV. Shawn stated he was happy about winning. Along with that honor, he also played a towns-person in "Cinderella," performed by drama students. With Mr. Paul Epley's class, he created and sold various objects, such as WWJD bracelets, key chains, coin pouches, and friendship bracelets. "Shawn Davidson is a very hard working student, and at the same time, he cares about other people. He is an all around good guy," said Mr. Epley.

3. Holding up a cake made by Junior Tonya Brust, Mrs. Pat Price explains the creative twist given to an assignment. Other people who made cakes to represent their information were Scott Hoffman and Aleesha Wall. The project was given for students to represent WWII in whatever creative way they wanted to.

4. Taking notes in Business Law, Senior Jennifer Greshaw writes down all information that might appear on a test. "This class taught me a lot about business and what could happen if something illegal went on in the business world," Greshaw said.

5. As she finishes her work, Mrs. Anna Daniels prepares for ISTEP remediation. ISTEP was a required test that sophomores took. It had to be passed by all seniors before they could graduate. Mrs. Dykstra also helped students in this area.

6. While creating a valentine, Sophomore Carly Rice writes a poem in French. After making cards, each person in the class gave their cards to various friends.

7. While working on an Algebra II assignment, Sophomore Josh Cambe follows what Mrs. Judy Roberts lectured on during class. While a lot of schools typically taught Algebra I, then Geometry, and finally Algebra II, KV taught Algebra I, Algebra II, and then Geometry.

8. Writing a report on Oedipus the King during Dramatic Literature, Senior Rolander Yang finishes his assignment. Other plays covered in Dramatic Lit were Adding Machine, Hamlet, and Glass Menagerie.

9. Working on his two-dimensional drawing, Freshman Daniel Kwasniewski accurately draws his lines. In some woods classes, students had to turn their two-dimensional drawing into an actual object.

10. Decorating their foreign language class door, Juniors Theresa Cruikshank, Tiffany Philpot, Ashlee Matson, and Nicole Disney work on making the French door look as spirited as possible. Students all around school, in every class, decorated doors. Mr. Greg Oliver's class won with the best decorated door. Students considered it to be a great team project.

Artistic Flair

Three teachers that were involved with fine arts were Mrs. Nancy Klockow, Mrs. Sarah Miller, and Mrs. Gail Woolever. In Ceramics

I, students started with vocabulary words and the basics and spent a week each semester on ceramic history. In Ceramics II, Mrs. Miller kept up-to-date ceramic magazines, and all students picked out the right project for themselves. Mrs. students have one very well Fiber Arts, polymer clay necklaces, and end of the year, practiced

Miller said, "All of the accomplished at least done, unique piece." In students have made beads, bracelets, baskets. Towards the students learned and Shabori, a Japanese stitching method and then the material is dyed. The last big project of the year was weaving, large needlepoint, or completing latch hook. Media Art was another class that Mrs. Klockow taught. Media Arts was a photography class that only worked with black and white film. They learned how to develop the film and made prints. Mrs. Klockow said, "It is a very hard and challenging class."

Many awards were won by the students including Aubrey Voyles and Kelly Foley. They both won an award in Excellence and received a $250 scholarship to St. Joseph's College. Lindsay Craig won two awards in the Farm Bureau Project XL competition.

In Second semester of Advanced Fiber Arts, Junior Jamie Anderson starts working on a needlepoint. She said, "I really like Fiber Arts a lot. There are so many different projects that allow you to have fun and be extremely creative."

Not only does Sophomore Ashley Murray take Art, but she also takes Ceramics I. After making a ginger bread house in ceramics class, she said, "I had fun in there making the house. I tell everyone to take that class. You work with your hands and with your imagination."

What do you want to say?

"There are always projects to do in which you can excel your artistic ability."
-Sophomore Amy Knip

"There's never a dull moment in Mrs. Miller's Ceramics class."
-Junior Daniel Boissy

"Art classes are where lots of energy and creative ideas are located."

~Mrs. Miller

In Mrs. Sarah Miller's Ceramics II class, Senior Nancy Krueger works on a heart wall hanging. She exclaimed, "I was making a heart that said 'I love you. When this picture was taken, I was painting it all different colors.'"

In Mrs. Nancy Klockow's class, Junior Sarah Jabaay and Senior Aubrey Voyles add color to their tie dye project. In addition to painting the Senior motto, Voyles won an award of Excellence at the St. Joe art exhibit. Voyles has been in art all four years.

Business

Many students planned on going into the business industry, so they took business courses taught by Mrs. Diana Zacher and Mrs. Lynn Ginzler, who helped them get there with the students' best foot forward. Junior Michelle Berg said, "I thought taking a business course, especially accounting, would be beneficial to my future endeavors. It is helpful to be familiar with the various accounting concepts, and the business field is involved in every other field in one way or another."

Even if planning ongoing field, they business courses business practices

In the classes, students such as running stand and creating an NCAA poster for the teams in the NCAA tournament. They learned about business law and managing their own finances. Skills learned were how to balance checkbooks and how and why it was important to finance a house. For students who wanted to get a jump start on a business career or just learn about finances and responsibility, business classes were an opportunity to learn life and career skills.

In Mrs. Lynn Ginzler's Business Foundations class, Junior Jimmy Trembly works on his assignment on the computer. Jimmy said, "I really liked Business class. It was one of my most fun classes, and it also gave me time to prepare for the club in which I'm extremely involved Business Professionals of America."

Junior Meagan Kikkert works on her typing assignment in Mrs. Lynn Ginzler's Keyboarding class. Meagan said, "Though keyboarding class was fun, the keyboarding part got extremely repetitive and kind of boring. All in all, I am glad that I took it because I learned a lot, and I will be able to use what I learned at least everyday for the rest of my life."

Freshman Mackenzie Nannenga works on her homework in Mrs. Lynn Ginzer's Intro to Business class. Mackenzie said, "It was really interesting to see how the business industry works and how it's the economy that keeps it going."

Working diligently, Senior Carl Veld works on an assignment in Mrs. Lynn Ginzer's Business I class. Carl said, "I like Business class. It is very refreshing because I know that someday I will be able to use it."

Theater Arts II

Theater Arts II built character. "In Theater Arts II, I learned that there are so many ways to look different and show emotions. Acting is not as easy as it looks. You have to be open to doing just about anything," said Junior Kori Jarrell. Among many other things students performed how to do injuries and make a point themselves.

learned about and plays. They learned stage make-up, fake use body language to and better express. They were involved in skits and plays including Romeo and Juliet, The Lion, The Witch, and The Wardrobe, and Storm in the Dorm. They also participated in readers theater and finally the most anticipated thing, the music video at the end of the year. The music video turned out to be a huge success. Juniors, Justin Adkins, David Thompson and Jerrold Martinez said "The dance music video that the Drama class performed was awesome. The story line was really funny and kept us entertained the entire time that it was going on. The girls did a really good job dancing."

Reciting her lines for the play The Lion, The Witch, and The Wardrobe, Sophomore Brandy Wilkerson works hard to make sure she doesn't forget anything.

English

Throughout the school year, the English classes did many plays and presentations. In Mr. Tim Adams' Junior English class, students did reports on famous people to help them build their writing skills. Junior Nathaniel Schmucker said, "I chose to do my paper on John Dillinger and Machine Gun Kelly because I thought they were interesting and something that I would enjoy." In Mr. Adams' Senior English classes, they reenacted a scene from William Shakespeare's Different media they could use were video, magazines, power point, music, on-line information, and newspapers. Their projects had to have at least two of those types of media. "Making a video based on The Crucible was really fun because my friend Lauren Laski jumped out of a window," said Sophomore Laura VanderLugt.

Mrs. Jill Steiner's and Mr. Tom Black's film literature classes studied musicals, animations, and westerns. For their final, students had to make a movie. Senior Alex Bishop said, "I made about 230 story boards alone, and it took forever! Then we shot for only about ten hours, and after that it was about a good six to eight hours of editing for a 20 minute film."

Sitting on the couch in Mr. Tim Adams' AP English class, Juniors Michelle Berg and Kathryn Huhn work on an in-class writing assignment. Every day in Mr. Adams' classes he chose two people to sit on the couch. (Above right)

Sophomore Allison Plopper sits in Mrs. McKinney's Sophomore Honor English class with Brazilian Youth Ambassador student Andre Grutorhow. He was one of only five exchange students who had the opportunity to visit Kankakee Valley.

Career Classes

At KV, there were several classes that allowed students to get a taste of what life after high school would be like. These classes offered a sampling of different career options.

Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education (I.C.E.) program gave seniors the chance to make a little money while still earning school credits. Students went to school until 1:30 and then were released to go to work.

English as a Second Language (E.S.L.) is a class that gave new students a place to go for help if they were still having trouble understanding the English language. Mrs. Gloria Kreischer helped students with homework assignments as well as their English speaking skills.

Exploring different working in homes occupied Health Occupations students'. Students had to be a senior and interested in the health care field, and they had to maintain a C+ average. Mrs. Forehand stated, "There is a certain amount of book work and tests, of course, but the hands-on work is mostly stressed."

Law Enforcement students studied laws and learned about prison. Students were taught defensive tactics such as proper traffic stops and violations, handcuffing, and ticket writing. They also did a crime scene investigation project. This two hour block class allowed students to explore what a career in law enforcement would be like.

Helping out at Crestmark Nursing Home. Bill Armstrong, along with Seniors Deanna Polus, Sarah Steffel, and Krysten Gunter, students in the Health Occupations class, work together to put up a Christmas tree for the residents.

-Senior Andrew Travis

"ESL is very open, and Mrs. Kreischer is always asking us how we feel. That is good because when you answer in English, you learn how to use it." -Freshman Timothy Garlach

While celebrating Mrs. Gloria Kreischer's birthday, ESL students Carla Medina, Martha Chavarria, Merari Cazares, and Maria Hernandez show her that they care by applauding as she completes the Mexican tradition of putting her face in the cake.

Doing bookwork for Law Enforcement, Seniors Eric Drake and Mik'hail Baker listen to their classmates explain how they got the answer to the next problem.

Foreign Language

Foreign Language class was not just about learning a new language. French, German, and Spanish classes also learned about the culture. For example, both first and second year French made French food for their class. First year French cooking was based off the holiday La Chandeleur. The second year made dinner type foods.

"Being in French is interesting because I get a closer look at a different culture," said Senior Borden Smith.

Third year German class wrote dialogues. "Kammi and I did our dialogue on Mrs. Klockow where we locked her in the room and used the paint to paint her room," said Junior Rachel Yack.

Spanish celebrated foreign Valentine's Day. Spanish had to how to reserve a check in. Then their dialogues to the class.

"Spanish is a fun class because Ms. Groat is an awesome teacher, and she is a really good teacher," said Sophomore Cole Patrick.

"I loved singing songs on Valentine's Day. It was a lot of fun, and it gave us a break from all the work," said Sophomore Rachel Kikkert.

Kammi Layton

Relaxing after a day of second year Spanish, Sophomores Colin Serocinski and Daniel Shadwell play checkers, while Sophomore Kara Prentoski watches the game. "I like to play checkers during our study time because it's something to do, and also it's fun to beat Colin all the time," said Sophomore Daniel Shadwell.

While in 3rd year German, Junior Timothy Fraticelli presents the transparency that he made for his German class. Before he presented the transparency, he wrote down all the words on the board that his classmates might not know

"French can be a lot of fun. I love when we have parties. They're the bomb."
-Junior Jennifer Nannenga

What do you want to say?

"Spanish will help me most in my future profession as a child psychologist."
-Senior Eprise Armstrong

"German's a lot of fun since I have my friends in there with me."
- Junior Matthew Jurs

Looking for his favorite foods in first year French, Freshman Tyler Ritchie takes a little bit of everything that was made. The class made dinner and dessert crepes.

During first year French, sophomore Katherine Misink makes valentines for her friends. Afterwards, she passed them out to all of her friends.

Home Economics

When you think of Home Economics, one thing comes to mind—cooking—but cooking is not the only subject you learn in Home Ec. Interpersonal Relationships, Life and Careers, Early Child care, as well as Family Wellness are classes taught by Home Economics teachers Ms. Jennifer Theresa Groot. teens how to maintain on adult roles. Nutrition class Tysen's to pick ingredients that food they made, cheese, and nutritious snacks. Students also made a party buffet, prepared many varieties of whole meals, and decorated cakes.

Aaryn Shuto

Early Child Care, a two hour block, taught students how to improve the minds of children from the ages of two to five. Students taught children their numbers, the alphabet, colors, and much more. For holidays and birthdays, they participated in many activities, such as a card exchange on Valentine's Day. They made headbands and had a leprechaun leap for St. Patrick's Day, and dyed eggs and had an egg-hunt for Easter. "I am always amazed at how well the students pick up on their job occupations and become self-disciplined to the responsibility of the center's running," said Ms. Jennifer Schroeder.

Concentrating on taking notes during Interpersonal Relationships, Sophomore Nicholas Miranda tries to keep up with Ms. Jennifer Schroeder. Interpersonal Relationships was a class that helped students to deal with their emotions and feelings.

Playing in the water, Senior Patricia Miley helps Kyle Enzigenburg put the water in the shark's mouth to squirt it out again. "Our bit of my entire high school career, Jennifer Schroeder's Early Child Care class has been the most fulfilling and educational. I will value these experiences throughout my life," Miley said.

"Working with the kids has taught me more than just sitting in a class ever would!"

"I took foods class because I wanted to learn more about foods in other countries."
-Freshman Tonya Davis

Helping Rhea Eenigenburg and Trenton Walstra with their small motor skills and hand/eye coordination, Senior Ashley Retzlaff watches as they carefully use the scissors. Using scissors to cut papers was just one of many examples of working with the kids' hand/eye coordination.

In Advanced Foods and Nutrition, Sophomores Clarissa Bonilla and Aaron Hebda watch Tony Lachel from The Cooking and Hospitality Institute of Chicago as he makes flowers out of icing to put on top of cakes. Tony visited on January 29 and taught classes all day on how to decorate cake tops.

Math

Math can be really hard, easy or sometimes in between. For instance, all the steps involved in Algebra, Pre-Calculus, Calculus, and Algebra II can be quite confusing to some people. To others, the answers come easily. For people who struggled in math, a Math Lab was opened. It was open during all of fourth hour. Mr. Herald Hostetler and Mrs. Judy Roberts were the ones in charge of it.

The Math Lab said about it, said that their improving, and was starting to Math Lab also helped students get ready for tests by going over what would be on the test and reviewing all the material they had done in that chapter. Students got help on anything from beginning classes like Algebra Tech to more advanced classes like Calculus. Whatever class the students were taking, they always got the help they needed.

"The Math Lab was a lot of help to me with my homework, and I got a better understanding of how to do the problems I'm working on," said Senior Matthew Donis.

Working on her math homework for Mr. Allen Nagel's class, Freshman Crystal Flores intensely tries to figure out a problem on her Pre-Algebra worksheet.

What do you want to say?

"Math is interesting because you take things that don't make sense and try to make them work right."
-Junior Alexander Warren

"I enjoy Mr. Herald Hostetler's Pre-Calculus class because he makes challenging material easy to learn."
-Junior Megan Kikkert

"My most memorable moment in Algebra I was when I finally got an A on a test. I knew then that I was finally starting to understand Algebra 1."

-Freshman Megan Odle

Senior Brian Downing gets help on a problem from his Math homework that was giving him trouble. Mrs. Nancy Valenkamph helped him during his study time.

While in Mr. Mark Ladd's Algebra I class, Freshman Christopher Cole writes down the notes that his teacher is giving him so he can use them on his homework.

PE/Health

Most classes worked on improving the mind, but Physical Education and Health taught students about the mind and the body. These classes expanded their education on the human body and the things that harm them, as well as how to keep it in shape.

In Health class, students focused on what they should do and what

"Gym was an awesome class because I am allergic to Algebra. So running around without a purpose was fun at times." - Freshman Scot Wilder

"Gym improves self-esteem, and shows you where your interests lie in after school activities." - Sophomore Ashleigh Tronjo

During six weeks of required swimming, Freshman Timothy Carlach uses a kick board to move around the pool. In order to pass the swimming unit, students had to complete three swimming styles successfully.

In a team sports unit, Freshman Breann Rentschler pulls back to hit the shuttle cock in badminton. Badminton, volleyball, pickleball, and soccer were the team sports.

Science

A lot of the student body likes Science since they actually get to get up, move around, and do interesting hands on labs. Some of the labs were making ice cream, finding different kinds of fungi, dissecting different kinds of reptiles, being involved in a copper lab, and also a paper towel lab.

Senior Alexander Wagner said, "My favorite lab so far would have to be the Kite Lab we did in Ms. Norris's Intro into Chemistry/Physics class. It let us build and operate a kite based on what it does." Students also made and tested aerodynamics.

Lucas Thomas

All of the teachers tried to make their classes more memorable by watching movies, making little Science jokes, or by doing fun labs that the students loved and worked well in. Teachers also printed out sheets or charts to help students remember information that was on the tests or finals.

"I can't exactly pick out one thing that both teachers did that was really memorable, because everything Mr. Steve Maple and Mrs. Kristi Slaby did was really memorable. Although, I would have to say that the M&M lab we did in Mrs. Slaby's class was my most memorable moment," said Sophomore Ashley Antkowiak.

While sitting in Mr. John Price's class, Senior Shawn Kuiper tries to think up a clever answer to write down on the Physic's homework that had been assigned on that day.

During fourth hour Biology I, Freshman Brittany Hoffman, Sophomore Philip Kmiec, and Freshman Sarah Luttringer listened intently to Mr. Steve Maple's lecture on micro organisms.

While in Mr. John Price's class, Junior Cassandra Pollard uses her notes she took in class to help her on the homework she was just given.

In fourth hour Environmental Science class, Junior Carrie Rice listens to Ms. Sara Patterson while reading up on the extra credit that she could possibly do for that class.

Social Studies

Traveling back in time, students who took a social studies class learned about the past, present, and future of their country as well as many other countries all around the world. were tutoring each other. "The most interesting thing that we learned in Econ was that, if you want to be wealthy you should put your money into stocks," said Senior Sheena Wood. Social Studies classes learned about a range of people including Native Americans to the interesting Aborigines in Australia. Government classes helped students understand more about their government and branches of government, including an end of the semester project where they played the game Clue, with government officials as the players. "Mr. Peo made government more interesting for the average student," said Senior Amber Cooper.

Working on her homework for International Relations, Freshman Sara Atchley goes to write down the answer she found to the question in the book. International Relations taught students more about geography of Social Studies than about wars.

Asking Mr. Mike Peo a question about his worksheet, Senior Joshua Wierzbza gets help with his homework. Government was a class that helped many seniors understand all about what goes on in government and politics in the world today.

"I never found history class that interesting until I had Mrs. Price as a teacher. She is full of knowledge." - Junior Jessica Anderson

"Current Issues kept me updated on the events around the world." - Sophomore Darren Wireman

"In Econ, we learned that it's your choice to be in poverty or not." - Senior Abby Albin

Visiting the class to help with any questions, Sgt. Cassida shows the seventh hour Econ class what kind of things are in common with his career in the Air Force. A representative from the Air Force and the Army came to Mr. George Post's' classes for a day to discuss their careers and all the benefits that come with a military career.

Discussing WWI, Rolander Yang became involved in the entangling alliances during his World History class. Many students in World History enjoyed more lectures than reading everything out of the book.

Technology

For those who already knew what career they wanted after high school, the technology classes were a great way to learn about industry. In a technology class, students could learn about computers, auto mechanics, architecture, graphing, wood working, and agricultural education. Technology students who were going into such fields as building trades said they really enjoyed these classes. Junior Nathan Blake Simpson said, "I really like hands-lots of these things I will use later in my life."

Many the Technology speakers, and David McIntosh events were sponsored by Department, such as a Halloween party, guest the Pilot Program. Junior said, "I really liked the Pilot Program and all the activities that we did."

The Pilot Program focused on exposing students to different activities anywhere from hobbies like quilting and photography to careers like professional boxing. The program featured many speakers, such as Senator Brent Hershman and a spokesperson from the Indiana Historical Society. "It was interesting to have the Senator Hershman at our school. He talked about interesting as well as pressing issues" said Elizabeth Moran.

While putting the finishing touches on his welding project, Junior Matthew Dykstra concentrates on his work to make sure that it is perfect. Matt said, "I really like welding class because it is something that interests me and can be used in my everyday life."

During their computer applications class, Freshman Donald Tilley and Sophomores Colin Serocinski and Royce Havens work hard to complete an assignment. Colin Serocinski said, "I really liked this class because I like working with computers, and it's fun to see what I can create."

"I decided to take welding because I like to know as much as possible, and that after I finish a project I will be able to say that I did that."

Working productively on her computer project, Freshman Melissa Easto tries to concentrate on completing it. Melissa said, "I really liked my computer applications class. We did some really cool projects, and I learned a lot."

While working hard on his project for Mr. Jeff Mengel's sixth hour welding class, Senior Justen Barcelli adjusts his flame. Justen said "At first I took a welding class for fun, but then I realized that I could make a career out of it."

Building Trades

Building trades was a year round class where young men built a house to develop skills that could jump start their careers in construction. The only requirement to take this class was successful completion of construction technology.

Mr. Kevin Mulvihill has been the only teacher for the 11 year old program. Building bought the lot Enterprises. Kapers and and supplies. them $75,000

Kankakee Valley Trades Incorporated from Shawanke From there they went to purchased all the wood Next, REMC loaned for the year under one condition that they had to use a GEO thermal heat system. GEO thermal means heat from the earth. REMC wanted people to use this type of system because it's energy efficient and cheaper to run. Although it may cost fifty percent more than a regular system, it pays for itself in five years according to Mr. Mulvihill. The $138,000 house is located in Pleasant Village on lot 42. When it was completed, Trudy Boss from McColly's Real Estate company sold the 1600 square foot, three bedroom, two bath house to Angela Leak.

While Senior Joseph Whitaker checks to see if the concrete blocks are level, Seniors Eric Laud and Steven Bailey look also. Joseph Whitaker said. "I took building trades because I like to be outdoors and to be working with my hands."

While cutting through a control joint in the garage, Senior Eric Laud remembers the safety rules that Mr. Mulvihill went over in class. These included safety glasses and cutting the concrete away from the cutter. (above)

After they laid the concrete, Seniors Jeremy Easto and Steven Bailey smooth it out. Jeremy Easto exclaimed, "Building Trades opens the window of opportunity."

Early in the morning, Seniors Daniel Nichols and Ryan Longstreth are trying to see if the boards are level. Daniel Nicholas said, "It's (building trades) a really good learning experience."

Is for Sports

Hey Kougat Fans,

Have you been keeping up with the athletic part of the school? It has been a big year for KV sports. So far, we have had Dominic Willis go to state for wrestling and get sixth place. Also, we had Robert Jabaay go to state for Cross Country and receive fifty-fourth place. Michael Lapota was named to the 2004 Wrestling Academic All State First Team. Kevin Lewis received second at sectionals for the 50 freestyle and broke the 50 free style and 100 free style school records. The football team won its first game of sectionals against Gary Roosevelt. The Boys Basketball team won the second game of the LAC tourney against Lake Station, played at Highland.

Mr. Kevin Mulvihill rode his bike across Ireland for a Lilly Grant. While there, he studied landscaping and architecture. Mr. Jeff Mengel taught boxing for students in the school system. He also gave professional boxer Jimmy Holmes lessons.

Our school is very diverse athletically. Not only KV students but also KV teachers challenge themselves physically, both in the school and in the community. Whether we are athletes or fans, we are all one, TIED WITH PRIDE.

Sincerely,

Amanda and Courtney

Warming up his serve, Senior Scott Osborn makes sure his toss is good and his feet are in the right position before serving to his opponent.

First place sectional winner for cross country, Senior Robert Jabaay, went to state and placed 54th. He also made Post Tribune's All Area First Team. At the L.A.C. All-Conference meet, Robert finished second. He ran Cross Country and track for four years. He was also a four year Environmental Club member and was vice president his senior year, and he was a two year member of Student Council and a one year member of Varsity Club.

4. Before the game, Junior Brittany Luketic practices her mounts with the lifters. The cheerleaders practice one hour before game time to perfect their cheers.

5. Before the timeout is over, Coach Mike Sampson and Coach Jim Woods have a meeting with the girls freshman basketball team about the next play.

6. During a fast break, Junior Joey Peretin takes the ball down the court for a lay-up, while being guarded by a Gavit player.

7. At a home meet, Senior Caleb Rice wrestles his opponent and gains the lead. This was Caleb's second year on the team.

8. Taking down the opponent, Freshman Kevin O'Neal goes after the loose ball. The team came close to winning the game against Gavit but fell short by five points.

9. At an away meet, Junior Taylor Clifford makes her way to the finish line as she passes the cheering fans. This was Taylor's third year on the cross country team.

10. Swimming butterfly in the 200 Individual Medley, Sophomore Christine Miles finishes the first 50 yards. Christine also swam the 400 Free Relay.

At the home game, Senior Franklin Eden, Junior Thomas Sandonato, and Sophomore Benjamin Stein tackle a Calumet Warrior. Eden and Sandonato were members of the offensive line.

As the offense has the ball, Senior Eric DeKock gets tackled by the opposing team with Seniors Thomas Lesczynski and Franklin Eden by his side.

As the Calumet Warrior heads down the field, Sophomore Troy Jackson cuts him off by diving in front of his forward progress. On a cold and rainy October night, Kankakee Valley Kougars beat the Calumet Warriors 29 to 28 in a heart pounding home game.

Ready for a touchdown play, Junior Wide Receiver Shane Byers sets up the play. Byers said, "For us it was a big step in our program. We learned a lot about our new offense and became stronger as a team. As a senior I hope to contribute more to the future success of our team."

One highlight of the 4-7 season was senior Eric DeKock's shattering of the Single Season Rushing Record with a time of 12:55.

Head coach Robert Prescott said, "The 2003 season was enjoyable for everyone involved. We went through some growing pains. By the end of the season, we were playing good football and more importantly, we were a tight-knit group that truly enjoyed spending time together. The seniors will be missed and the coaching staff wishes them the best of luck in the future."

Team improved under the leadership of a new coach, Robert Prescott. In an exclusive radio interview with WLQI 97.7, Prescott said, "I am planning on staying here for a long time, or at least until we win a championship."

When asked about the record he had broken, Eric DeKock said, "Breaking the rushing record had been a goal for me from the beginning of the year. I'd like to thank my offensive line, consisting of Seniors Frank Eden, Carl Feld, Samuel Kent, Juniors Thomas Sandonato, Ryan Vanderlugt, and Senior Thomas Leszczynski for their help in achieving this goal. It was a great feeling to know that I had broken a record that I had set out to break."

Being a senior was great! I tried to inspire the underclassmen to work hard. I wanted to be a better senior than the seniors my freshmen year. I asked the same thing the seniors before asked of me; to do your best. I hope they continue to move the program in the right direction."

Crowded with players waiting to get into the game, the sidelines held Freshmen Wesley Clifton, Adam Garling, and Andrew McKee who turned to the crowd for moral support. They also discussed the game.

On the front line, the team set up a play that ended in a touchdown. They were down and ready for anything that came their way.

In position, Sophomore Running Back Troy Jackson is ready for the play to begin. Jackson said, "I thought our season went exceptionally well. We had a few minor problems at the beginning. We worked through them and had a great group of seniors that led us in the right direction. We also have a coach that seems as if he is going to stick with the team for more than one year! I look for us competing next year for the Conference title."

Boys' Soccer

Playing captain for the first time, Sophomore Daniel Shadwell attempts to out run a defensive player and glances up as he prepares to pass to the forwards in front of him on the field. "Junior Varsity had a great season. We worked real hard and did our best," said Colin Serocinski.

Congratulating the opposing team's players with a friendly handshake, Freshman Mark Melton reflects on his performance at that night's game. "We had a great season, I can't wait until next year." At almost all of their games the boys were very cordial to the opposing teams because good behavior has always been a good thing.

Varsity Boys Soccer ended their season with a 3-13-1 record. Junior Varsity concluded with a record of 9-4-1. Junior Varsity Most Dedicated Award winner, Daniel Shadwell, said, "This season was great. We came out with a great record. Our team went through some tough times, but we overcame them and worked together on the field. We are a team that would not back down. We had exactly 11 players, and sometimes we would play teams 9 on 11, and came out with a win. That's what you call teamwork."

Junior Varsity Outstanding Soccer Skills award went to Sophomore Colin Serocinski. His reaction to this achievement was, "It's cool that I got an award for my skills, but it took a lot of practice. Practicing is the key to success." Varsity Rookie of the Year award went to Freshman Nathaniel "Buddy" Stoermann. Other awards went to Senior Kristopher Baccino for Most Dedicated on the Varsity Team. Varsity Mr. Hustle Award went to Junior Kyle Jansma.

As Seniors reflected on their final season, Senior Mikhail Baker said, "We all had a great season. This was one of my best years. I am sorry to see it over so soon, but I wouldn't trade it for anything. Good work gentlemen. One of Varsity's closest games against Hammond Morton attracted many Kougars fans. Hammond was shut out by the Junior Varsity, 7-0.

On Senior Day, Goalie Katie Nuss didn't want it to end. As she stood there along with her parents, she smiled upon her record breaking season.

As she warms up before the game, Senior Rebecca Thomason runs across the field to get pumped up for the tourney championship game. "I have learned a lot about soccer from Rebecca, Tiana, and Lorrie in all kinds of ways," said Junior Julie Douchen.

Before the KV tourney championship game, Senior Captains Tiana Jungels and Rebecca Goetz have their meeting with the officials.

Many school records were broken along the way. Sophomore Emma Cunningham had 36 goals in a single season and 56 for her career. Senior Tiana Jungels had 27 career assists and Senior Rebecca Goetz had 14 single season assists and tied the single game record of three. Senior Kaite Nuss had 7 shutouts, 15 career shutouts and recorded 379 saves for shots taken at her, for a new record.

As they closed this season, Junior Theresa Cruickshank who said, "Soccer was super fun and I'm really going to miss all of our seniors." Junior Jennifer Matusiak added, "We all pretty much grew up playing soccer together. It's sad that it's all coming to an end, but we had a lot of memories."

Volleyball

Among the many high school sports here in the Home of the Kougars, volleyball has shown some of the greatest improvements throughout the years. Participating in summer workshops and area clinics, team members honed vital skills.

The season ended with 32 wins and 6 losses, including a victory at Sectionals and a first round defeat at Regionals. Junior Jill DeVries said, "This season was the best we ever had. Winning the LAC Black Division was especially exciting because the other schools underestimated us and never saw it coming."

The team finished the season winning the Chesterton tournament, the Twin Lakes tournament, and taking second place at the KV and Peru tournaments. They went 7-0 and won the LAC Black Division. The team won Sectionals for the first time in seven years. It was a shock to many other schools, but not the Kougars. Senior Stephanie Call replied, "The team worked hard all season. We really pushed ourselves to improve and proved to all who doubted us that we could do it. It was a great season. I had a lot of fun."

As well as the team accomplishments, some individuals were also recognized for their outstanding performances. The MVP award went to the team captain, Taryn Porter. Megan Kikkert was awarded Best Offensive Player. Best Defensive Player went to Kirsten Fifield. Amanda Bonilla was voted Most Improved. Kougars Pride went to Jennifer Allen, and Michelle Berg rounded it up with Sportsmanship. The volleyball team was coached by Rick Ashmore who was assisted by Sarah Reid, and KV Class of '99 graduate Stacy Recker.

Wrapping it all up Senior Amanda Bonilla said, "No matter how many times we won or lost, the only thing that really mattered was the spirit of the team. We were all in it together."

Cross-country

Capturing a first place in Sectionals and a fifth place in Regionals, cross country kept it alive behind senior Robert Jabaay who was a state finalist. Although only one person made it to state, the cross country team had an excellent season. Coach Walt Prochno said, "Robert had an excellent season, no matter how you measure it. He won a bunch of invitationals. He was also a Sectional champ and an individual state finalist. He was especially cool to watch considering in the middle school there was nothing really special about him. He was just another face in the crowd." Walt Prochno has been the coach of the cross country team for 25 years.

Our team kept their spirits full while they were running at their home Invitational meet. Jabaay finished in first place, and Whitney Prochno finished in second. Boys and girls teams both made it to Sectionals which were held at Rensselaer. Boys finished in first place, and the girls finished in second. The team then advanced to Regionals, where the boys finished in fifth place and the girls finished in seventh. Kougars boys then advanced to semi-state, that was held at New Prairie, where the team was stopped with a 15th place finish. Robert Jabaay was the only Kougars to advance to state. Jabaay finished in fifty-fourth place. Robert said, "It was simply amazing running at state with all those hardcoreasurs. It was an honor for me to make it that far. I felt good representing KV."

Cross country team has celebrated every year with a pot-luck dinner before the awards ceremony. Pot-luck dinner consisted of pizza and soda pop, bread sticks, pasta, and desserts. After the team ate, they went to the awards ceremony. Awards that were given to the boys team were Most Valuable Runner - Robert Jabaay; Rookie of the Year - Devin Dorn, Academic award - Ryan Smeltzer, Most Improved - Jeremy Jackson, Captain - Robert Jabaay.

Boys Basketball

Even though the boys varsity basketball team had a rocky season, they ended with a record of seven wins and fourteen losses. Junior Bertil Valenkamph said, "Our season wasn't all that bad. It strengthened all of us. We worked our hardest to do what we had to do. You miss 100 percent of the shots that you don't take in a game."

Winning is not everything to athletes. To be in a sport means having a good mental attitude and always keeping your head in the game. Senior Jordan Bonesteel said, "Even though we didn't have a winning season, we all tried our best. We tried every day to keep our heads in the games and practices."

Members of the team worked hard and pushed themselves to do the best they could. Junior Joseph Peretin said, "I felt that this season was a little bit of a disappointment. I think that we could have had a fantastic year, but we fell a little short."

KV had a tough game against Gary Wirt. Coach Tom Black said, "After a rocky beginning, many of our players were starting to come together as a team. We played well throughout the contest, not great but well, controlling the tempo and keeping their offensive output to a minimum. The last few possessions were crucial. We made our free throws, maintaining enough of a lead to withstand their late run. Matthew Jurs' huge defensive play taking a charge as time expired, allowed us to escape the victory against a talented athletic Gary team. I was proud of our effort and obvious improvement up to that point in the season. It definitely was and is a high point for the teams."

Awards for the Varsity team were Varsity Desire Award and the Varsity Blue Collar Man-
Calvin Hamstra and Varsity Chairman of the Boards-Justin DeKock.

Boys Basketball

With a record of 6 wins and 14 losses, Junior Varsity boys made use of the court to show off their talent and hard work. No matter what, they were always pushed to do their best by coaches Jim Rappold and Jamie Smith.

A typical day for the JV players consisted of basketball, school, and more basketball. Every day, the team practiced before and after school for at least an hour and a half. Not only did the team play games, but they did some exhausting drills as well. For example, they ran "suicides," where they had to run a certain distance in under 30 seconds. Another drill they used was called the "Notre Dame." For this drill, they had to make a certain amount of baskets or run for the difference.

No matter how tough practices became, players knew their work would all pay off come game time. They also knew the next step up was Varsity. Junior Michael Torbitt played for both JV and Varsity. He said, "This year was one of my best experiences because it taught me about respecting my school, learning to trust in the other players, and that a sport is more than the individual. To look back on all the things everyone went through to finish the season, I'd say I would do it all again."

Though the team worked well together, a few individuals seemed to stand out more than others. In recognition of his outstanding performance, Sophomore Jordan Van Wienen received the JV Top Defender Award. Sophomore Matthew Hamstra received the JV Top Rebounder Award, and JV Most Improved went to Sophomore Daniel Mendoza.

On the Freshman team, Top Rebounder was awarded to Mark Melton. Top Defender went to Frank Bestich, and Matthew Oliver brought it together with the Best Mental Attitude Award. Upon accepting his award, Oliver showed that his award was well earned: "Freshman basketball was fun. I was on a team with great guys. We had our moments, but we still respected each other. We also learned, in order to win, we needed to work together. An individual effort wouldn't get the job done." With help and encouragement from Coach Bertil Valenkamph, the freshman A team finished the season with 4 wins and 12 losses, and the freshman B team ended with 2 wins and 5 losses.

Girls Varsity B-ball

What does the word "perfection" mean in terms of basketball? Many people believe perfection means not losing any games, making it to state, and becoming champions. In the dictionary, "perfection" means "the quality or state of being perfect; flawlessness; completeness; maturity and saintliness." For the girls varsity basketball team, "perfection" meant having a team that got along well and having a wonderful time together. Senior Rebecca Goetz remembered her senior year as her most memorable. "Although we didn't have a winning record this year, that really didn't matter to me because everybody came together in the end and gave it all they had. That's what is the most important."

Did the varsity team have the "perfect" season? That depends on how you looked at it. The girls basketball team created their own definition of perfection. The team went 7-16 in the new Lake Athletic Conference. Of the season, Junior Taryn Porter remembered the Calumet game the most. "It was a great feeling beating them but not so much when the girl rolled (fell) on me. Some memories can never be forgotten."

When the season came to an end, everyone looked back and remembered the good times and the bad times. "Treat every game like it's your last, so when you look back you don't regret anything," Junior Cassandra Pollard said about her three years on the basketball team.

Awards for the season were Team Captain: Michelle Schurman, Best Free Throw Percentage: Megan Passaloukos (82%), Most Improved: Emma Cunningham, Best Field Goal Percentage: Taryn Porter (41%), Most Rebounds: Michelle Schurman and Taryn Porter (13+), Mental Attitude: Michelle Berg, and Miss Defense: Jennifer Allen.

Girls JV/Freshman Basketball

Working together, the Junior Varsity and Freshman girls' basketball teams entered a new conference and tried to win using hard work and stamina. Junior Cassandra Pollard said, "Being a Junior playing Junior Varsity gave me a great experience to really show my leadership skills."

During their first year in the Lake Athletic Conference, the rough schedule led the JV team to a record of nine wins and eleven losses. Junior Jamie Anderson said, "I enjoyed our basketball season this year, because everyone stuck together even when times got rough. We could have done a lot better, but I am proud that we came together as a team and won some of our games. It was a great learning experience."

Though the team didn't have a winning record, the players grew as a team. Freshman Olivia Ortiz said, "This was a great year for us because our team got to know each other, and it was a great experience to meet new people."

JV Coach Rick Cunningham was also pleased with the way the girls played. Cunningham said, "At the start of the season, the girls were a little scared to play, but by the end of the season, the girls seemed to be more comfortable playing."

Under the direction of Coach Mike Sampson and Coach Jim Woods, the freshmen ended just below 500 with a record of 7-8. No one will forget the mix up with the uniforms when the girls were issued male uniforms. After a talk with the sports representative, Varsity Coach John Gray reissued the correct size and type of uniforms to the girls.

Freshman awards for this season were Best Free Throw Percentage- Olivia Ortiz, Most Rebounds- Stevie Alexander, Most Improved- Angela Donis, and Mental Attitude- Brittany Scott.

For the Junior Varsity Girls Basketball team, Rachel Kikkert pulled down Most Rebounds with 96 and Most Improved. C.J. Pollard earned the Mental Attitude Award. Final accolades went to Michelle Berg who zeroed in on the Best Free Throw Percentage with 91% and Miss Defense.

Cheerleading

Participating in pep sessions and athletic activities, cheerleaders kept the Kougars spirit alive. Though practices were sometimes strenuous and memorizing numerous cheers was often a pain, cheerleaders still continued to pump up the energy.

When the team got together, you couldn't help but notice the spirited shouts and a group full of smiles and laughter. However, things weren't all fun and games. The squad practiced four days a week to keep themselves well prepared for games, competitions, and camps.

The team hired IUPUI's cheerleading squad to come to KV and teach them new stunts for competitions. Regarding the extra help, Junior Janelle Kondos said, "It gave us new ideas and a goal to achieve."

First year high school level coach Janet Wireman also helped the squad along. She had coached for Pop Warner but had no problem adjusting to the higher level squad.

No matter how hard the team worked throughout the year, cheerleaders always knew it would pay off and continued to keep their hopes up. Sophomore Caitlin Sittema said, "My first year on Varsity was so much fun! All the girls were awesome, and we had such a good time. I learned a lot of new things. I love it, and I'm really looking forward to next year."

The 18 member Varsity squad was led by seven seniors. When the coach was unavailable and outside help was not an option, the upperclassmen were more than happy to take the lead. Having team members work together and help one another, not only taught the squad the value of teamwork but served as building blocks for bringing everyone's individuality together to form a strong and unique squad. Junior Amber Cunningham added, "It didn't take long for anyone to notice that a lot of hard work, time, and dedication goes into cheerleading. I realized it was a great way to contribute to the school's spirit while having fun at the same time. All the girls are so sweet, and they each brought their own uniqueness to the team." Cheerleaders encouraged the crowd at all home basketball and football games.

Swimming

Highlighted by great victories for both the girls and boys, the swim season was a particularly memorable one. Senior Kevin Lewis broke the school record in the 50 yard free style with a time of 22.82 seconds at a Lowell meet. Lewis was also named Swimmer of the Meet at the Hobart Winterfest Invitational. Coach Roberts was very proud of Lewis. "I was very excited that he broke the record of a former KV swimmer whom I coached," said Roberts.

"We had a very good season for such a small team," said Roberts. The boys ended their season with a 6-3 record. Boys team had a rare occurrence in their records when they defeated Harrison High School for only the second time in school history with a score of 78-75. Boys took third place at Rensselaer Relays. They also made history by beating Merrillville for the first time ever.

Girls swim team also had a very good season. During the LAC Conference meet, the ladies took eighth place against the 12 teams competing. Sophomore Brittanie Chevette broke her own record in the Individual Medley. Girls stole away first place at the Griffith Invite. One of three team captains, four year swimmer, Whitney Prochno, reflected on the season, "This has been an awesome year, despite the 60 degree water for the first couple of weeks. We did really well up against a lot of tough competition. I've made so many great memories for these last four years."

A newcomer to the team, Freshman Michelle Moran, said, "The big LAC meet was so much fun. I really had a great time, the Seniors were great, and they really made my freshman year enjoyable."

Awards for the girls' swim season were Co-Most Valuable Swimmers-Brittanie Chevette and Taylor Clifford. Most Improved-Anne Janovich, and Freshman of the Year-Elizabeth Studer. Team Captains were Kristin Yenchus, Whitney Prochno, and Amanda Schaper. Down on the mat, Senior Randy Ivanor shoots and ducks to get on top of a Twin Lakes wrestler. "Wrestling is a sport that requires both mental and physical conditioning, and Walter [Prochna] knows what it takes to succeed," said Randy.

On the start of the clock, Sophomore Cale Patrick grapples his opponent. "I think we did well as a team. We worked hard all season, even if we ran a lot and did countless push-ups. I had fun, and the hard work paid off," he said.

At the home meet, Senior Caleb Rice goes for the cradle against his Twin Lakes opponent. "This season I dropped a lot of weight, but it was all worth it in the end. I am going to miss it," he said.

Wrestling Definitions

Grappling-when you stand and face the other opponent with your hands around each other.

Shuts-when you go to grab for your opponent's legs to get him down.

Ducks-when you get on your knees for the shot.

Cradle-when you grab one of the opponent's legs and bring it over his head to keep him on his shoulders.

After the referee blows the whistle, Senior Michael Lapota does his best in getting as many points as he can.

Despite long hours of hard practices and long days at invites, the wrestlers ended with a memorable 8-4 season. Both the team and individual wrestlers achieved great success on the wrestling mats.

Junior Dominic Willis made it all the way to State in Indianapolis, on February 21. Willis said, "State ain't no Mickey Mouse baby junk. I'll never forget my experience at state. It was surreal." Willis placed sixth after being pinned by a Senior from Boone Grove. Willis said the most important thing to remember is never to quit.

Willis' mother, Mrs. Anna Daniels, said, "Dominic has worked hard to reach this goal, and we are so excited and proud of him. Once he sets his mind to do something, there's no stopping him. That's why they call him the Dominator."

"We can't wait until next year's season!"

Another wrestling standout was Senior Michael Lapota, who was named Academic All-State First Team. He represented the entire state in the 160 pound weight class. Lapota said, "Making Academic All-State first team is a great achievement. I feel very honored to have been selected, especially since it's state-wide, even though I was the only one in my weight class."

Softball Team

As the school year came to an end, the Spring sports seasons wound up action. The softball team closed the regular season out against Rensselaer on May 22.

The girls played a rough season in the LAC against teams like Andrean, Lowell, Michigan City and Portage. Although they've played these schools before, one change was that they were playing for a LAC Black Tide. Sophomore Allison Plopper said, "I had so much fun, and I got to play a lot of different positions. I had fun playing them all throughout the season," added Plopper who was in her second year of softball action under the new field lights.

The girls showed a lot of their competitive sides when playing the hardest teams. Although they also played very good defense in all of their games, they had some trouble hitting the ball when it came down to the time. The best game that Senior Megan Kwasniewski remembered was Andrean. "I think the best game was against Andrean because we held them at 1-0 and even though we lost, we played awesome defense!"

In the first round of Sectionals the Kougars beat Gary Roosevelt 29-0. They lost in round two.

Spring Awards for Varsity included Best Batting Average and Most Hits-Allison Plopper, Most Sacrifices-Michelle Berg, Most Extra Base Hits and Most Stolen Bases-Brooke Owens, and Golden Glove Awards-Jennifer Allen and Megan Kwasniewski.

Spring Awards for Junior Varsity included Most Improved-Amber Gooden, Golden Gloves-Angela Donis and Stephanie Boling, Positive Attitude-Ashley Zavala, and Most Hits-Olivia Ortiz.

Home games were played behind the Intermediate School under the direction of veteran coaches Brian Flynn and Mike Hart, and rookie coach Mike Woods.

Girls' Track

Season ended with a final record of 13-1. "It was one of the best seasons we have had in years," said Coach Adams.

The team consisted of freshmen who did the team well including Freshman Kirah Fifield who advanced to Regionals in the 100meter dash, 200 meter dash and the 400 relay. Kirah said, "I'm looking forward to next season. I learned a lot from the seniors, and they taught me more than I thought they would."

Senior Whitney Prochno said, "Track has been awesome for me for the past four years! I've always had so many friends on my team, and we had an especially great year! I'm going to miss the competing and even the practicing. I've had so many great memories thanks to my teammates, coaches and my family! Thanks guys."

Injury sidelined Junior Cassandra Poisel who was injured in the long jump sand pit where Poisel twisted her knee. During her hiatus on crutches, Poisel stood watchful guard over the other jumpers at future meets. She also continued to lift weights and workout in preparation for the next season. This type of dedication was also shown by Junior Kirsten Fifield who topped off her three sport year with track. She said, "Our team worked really hard, and we enjoyed being with our teammates including little sisters like mine."

Junior Aleesha Wall said, "Track was a lot of fun. I really enjoyed making it to Regionals. I am also very happy with the girls on the team, they are like sisters I've never had."

Awards consisted of the Most Points-Distance-Jamie Vandermolten, Most Points-Hurdles-Alana Williams, Most Points-Jumps-Tiana Jungels, Most Points-Middle Distance-Clarissa Bonilla, Most Points-Throws-Jessi Jungels, Most Improved-Stephanie Poisel, Rookie of the Year-Kirah Fifield, Captains were Whitney Prochno, Tiana Jungels, and Maire Gurevitz.

They took their mark... They got set... and when the time came to go, they went. Boys track team dominated the season with 9 wins and 4 losses, as well as taking second place at the Twin Lakes and Rensselaer Relays. The team competed against seven other teams at Twin Lakes and six teams at Rensselaer. They placed fifth out of 15 teams at the LAC meet, and took third of twelve at Sectionals.

However, before the team even thought of competing against others, they did some serious weight training in addition to their running drills. For two hours every day after school, the boys pushed themselves to the max as a lack of effort wouldn't fly well with veteran coaches Walt Prochno and Dan Roberts, who combined their skills of over 50 years of coaching knowledge.

When track season was not in session, the boys were strongly encouraged to keep themselves active in other sports to stay in shape and be ready to compete. Even the team had to admit that it really paid off, and it wasn't all that bad. Senior Devin Dorn agreed, "Track was a lot of fun. We improved quite a bit over last year because of added numbers, and we were just better!"

Dorn, along with Seniors Robert Jabaay and Samuel Kent, had the pleasure of ending his high school career as a captain of the track team. Each of them received a 5" X 7" plaque as a token of gratitude from their fellow teammates. As a token of the coaches' appreciation, other individual awards were dispersed as well. Most Versatile Athlete went to Junior Dominic Willis. Rookie of the Year was awarded to Freshman Daniel Lewallen. Senior Mikhail Baker received the Most Valuable Sprinter Award. Captain Devin Dorn also received the Academic Award. Captain Robert Jabaay was presented the Most Valuable Distance Runner Award, and Captain Samuel Kent earned the Most Valuable Thrower Award. Awards were presented on Friday, May 28.

Girls'/Boys' Golf

By Elizabeth
Moran

"Girls golf was awesome," said Freshman Ashley Jonkman. Junior Varsity player Samantha Moran added, "Our team worked very hard. We did pretty well, but it all came with a lot of practice and hard work."

Ladies' season ended with a record of 13-8. Their Conference record was 3-4 in the regular season and 3rd out of 8 in the LAC tourney. In the KV Invite, they compiled a final score of 407, finishing 6th as a team. Ladies swept Hobart and Wheeler in their first match. Coach Doug Greenlee was very proud of the girls saying, "We worked hard. This could be the beginning of a very good season." At Sectionals, the girls finished 6th out of 12 teams. "We just came up a little short," said Greenlee.

Boy's Golf Season was just as successful. Carl Veld called this season "fun" saying, "We had a great time, even though we haven't played up to our potential. We generally get along and have a lot of fun together."

Spring Awards: included Most Valuable Golfer-Jordan Bonesteel, Most Improved Golfer-Carl Veld, Most Consistent Golfer-Colin Serocinski, and Golf Etiquette Award-Cody Whited.

On the girls' side, Most valuable Golfer award was given to Bailee Serocinski. Other awards were Most Consistent Golfer, Kelly Foley. Golf Etiquette award went to Jill Jamieson. Rookie of the Year was Sara Hoffman, and Most Improved was Alyssa Demeter. Coach for the girls' was Doug Greenlee and the coach for the boys' was Tom Black.

Is for Clubs

Hello club members,

Though we still went on fieldtrips, attended club dances, and hosted annual events such as spike down, clubs were geared more toward helping others.

Sunshine organized groups of students who baked foods for many activities, such as the Academic Decathlon. They also held a shoe drive to raise new or "decently used" shoes for those in need. Senior Leaders held Freshman Fundamentals Day on Wednesday, August 20, to help Freshmen get acquainted with the school. Pathfinders held a food drive, while Student Council sponsored a blood drive on March 31, and a book drive. All profits, donations, and gifts went to community members in need.

Pioneerz visited the Intermediate school to help students learn about D.A.R.E. and ate lunch with middle school students every Wednesday. Drama performed plays, which provided the community with entertainment. FFA held a fruit sale.

Everything we did in our various clubs, we did as a school, intent on helping our community, and we were as always, TIED WITH PRIDE.

Sincerely,

Courtney and Amanda

Giving blood for the first time, Senior Kevin Lewis watches the Goonies. The school provided three different movies for the donors to watch as they gave blood. Lewis commented, "I did two good things today, watched the Goonies and saved a life."

David Plant was very involved in extracurricular activities including National Honor Society, Kougat Krazies, Drama, Band, and Pathfinders. David was the lead in Cinderella. He was the prince. In Band, David earned a gold medal at the ISSMA Solo & Ensemble contest in Indianapolis where he played the Humble Trumpet Concerto. This was the third consecutive year that David has earned a first at State.

Foreign Language Club was really cool because we got to eat lots of food, and we went to see a play." ~Freshman Elizabeth Weaver~

3. Giving Mrs. Kathy McKinney her club card to go to a club meeting, Freshman Olivia Ortiz waits for Mrs. McKinney to give her permission. On Wednesday during fifth hour, clubs had 20 minutes to have meetings if they needed them.

4. Discussing the Easter egg hunt for the children of the community, Senior Stephanie Kikkert and Mrs. Pat Price decide that the Easter egg hunt should take place at Field of Dreams on the Saturday before Easter.

5. Beginning to decorate the freshman hall the night before the judging, Freshmen Elizabeth Studer and Crystal Herendeen start putting the balloons up. The freshman hall received 3rd place in the competition.

6. In fifth hour speech class, Sophomore Allison Klicek pauses her speech to listen to the announcements on which clubs are meeting that day. Allison was in the middle of her debate about the death penalty.

7. In the auditorium, on Thursday, April 1, Juniors David Fischer and Michael Torbitt watch the National Honor Society Induction. Afterwards, cake and beverages were served.

8. Before getting her blood taken for the annual blood drive, sponsored by Student Council, Junior Jamie Anderson gives all her information to the doctor.

9. Welcoming Sophomore Joshua Gibson to National Honor Society, Junior Michelle Berg hands him the necessary papers and introduces him to the other Honor Society members.

10. On September 11, Student Council let off balloons in remembrance of all the victims of 9/11. Senior Zsuzsa Rona, a visitor, and Senior Heather Stone waited until they got the signal to let their balloons go.

* Kolor Guard team purchased brand new uniforms and flags for this season. They had to do several fundraisers to reach the goal needed.

Girls performed at two home basketball games during the winter season. *

Marching off the field after a performance, the Kolor guard breathed a sigh of relief that the show went off without a hitch. Freshman Michelle Moran said, "After each show we were all so excited that we didn't mess up! We were really hyper after the shows, too!"

During a basketball half time show, sophomore Carri Dickerson concentrates on not dropping her flag. "I was always scared when I went on for a performance that I would drop my flag, and look like I didn't practice."

Swelling to perform during a football half time show. Sophomores, Carri Dickerson and Freshman Erica Greenlee try to get warm. Sometimes the weather would be so cold and horrible, but we still had fun," said Erica Greenlee.

Kolor Guard

Kolor Guard seemed to have had a fresh new start. With two new coaches, Mrs. Shelly Greenlee and the Assistant Coach Elaine Dykstra, the girls did fundraisers in order to earn the money needed to purchase new uniforms and flags.

Kolor Guard was one of the many after school activities that had many different kinds of girls that had to come together and work as a team. One member of the team, Sophomore Elizabeth Moran said, "I enjoyed my first season of Kolor Guard, it was a lot fun! We had a great time hanging out and working on our routine."

They had many performances, and they won several awards. The awards they won included, 19th at the State Fair Band Day, 1st at North Judson Field Day, and 1st at ISSMA. Assistant coach, Mrs. Elaine Dykstra said, "Helping to coach was a fun experience. I had fun helping teach the girls new routines and watching them grow into a better team. Becoming a team was an important factor in our winning of awards."

Kolor Guard performed a show called "The Blues Brothers." They wore outfits that were inspired by the movie "The Blues Brothers." They wore white shirts with black ties and black hats. They performed at football half time shows, and at competitions. During the winter season, they wore their red glitter outfits. In those uniforms, they performed during the basketball half time shows.

The girls also held a mini-camp for elementary girls. They taught them a new performance and let them perform it at a basketball game's half time for their parents. "Mini-camp was a lot of fun. I loved sharing our skills with the girls!" recalled Sophomore Ann Dykstra.

* Seniors in Orchestra had a major influence on the three songs that were being played in the concert. Mr.

Ken Steidle likes to give Seniors a major influence on decisions about songs because it will make their Senior year a lot more special. *

"My last year of orchestra was the best ever. It brings a smile to my face everytime I think about how the group has flourished into an amazing orchestra over the past four years. I look forward to seeing even more changes from an audience point of view in the future," said Senior Kammil Luyon.

Jazz Band/ Orchestra

Jazz Band won a gold medal when they went to LaPorte High School and entered the Indiana State School Music Association Jazz Festival on Saturday, March 6. "Southside Shuffle" by Howard Rowe was the first song that they played. Sean Warren played the Trombone and David Plant who plays the Trumpet had their own solos in "Southside Shuffle".

"Jazz Band is great. It gives us a chance to have fun playing our instruments instead of being serious," said Junior Alex Warren.

In the second song "As I Look At You" by Les Aldrich, Senior Brandon Patton was featured playing the Saxophone. Andrew Mullins, who plays Bass and David Plant who plays Trumpet had solos in the closing song "Brass Roots" by Don Sebesky.

"I joined Jazz Band because it's a fun way to learn about different types of music, and learning a different instrument was a challenge," said Freshman Stephanie Rainwater.

Orchestra had 17 members. There were nine violins, three violas, three cellos and two basses. This was the first year that Orchestra had a large enough group for contest. Spring Pop which was in May and Holiday which was in December were the names of the two concerts that featured the growing string group.

"This year was my fifth year, along with most of the other people in the class. It's really a good feeling to know that we're all in it together," said Sophomore Caitlin Sittma.

"Orchestra has grown a lot this year. We got new uniforms. The girls got dresses and the guys got really nice tuxedos. It was really exciting because it seems like our orchestra is really growing and going somewhere," said Sophomore Elizabeth Moran.

Marching To The Beat

Marching Band had many accomplishments and competed in many different competitions.

Band also made a great impact in the world of music in Indiana. Marching Band and Kolor Guard won a Division I Gold Medal in the ISSMA Marching Band contest at South Bend's Jackson Field.

They also played at the State Fair in the summer. Freshman Andrew Hershman said, "Band is really fun, I thought going to the State Fair was the best part so far. We had the opportunity to see what kind of competition they had down there. I also liked it because it was a great way to have a good time."

Another accomplishment the Band has made was at the ISSMA Solo and Ensemble contest in Indianapolis. David Plant played the Trumpet Concerto. David was rewarded first place for three consecutive years, and also was chosen to play trumpet in the All-State Honor Band.

Band also was awarded a Gold Medal at State for winning the Saxophone Sextet which included Jennifer Klunder, Travis McDaniel, Tim Whitaker, Brian Hamm, Brandon Patton, and Cassy Dickerson. Members that earned Silver Medals were Rebecca Fraley, James Lewandowski, Emily Penninga, Katie Misiak, and Alexander Warren. Warren, a junior, said "Even though it was our building year, we found enough discipline and skill to earn a first place finish."

Band marched in the Touch of Dutch parade and every home football game. Practices began in the summer and were also held at 7a.m. every morning during the marching season.

"Band was the most worthwhile class I took this year. I learned a lot of new techniques and had a lot of fun doing it," said Freshman Matthew Patton.

Crazy for Choir

"I was proud of my accomplishment because it took a lot of time and effort," said Sophomore Ashton DeVries.

Choir director Mr. William Darnell had a lot to be proud of since the choir brought home many awards at ISSMA, on February 7.

Carielle Baumgarte, Stephanie Talarek, Kathy Kemp, Ashton DeVries, and Lauren Laski won first places in vocal solos.

"When I won first place at ISSMA I felt very happy. I was also excited and scared, but got over it. I would like to thank Sandy Tiemens for teaching me how to use my voice to sing such beautiful music," said Junior Kathy Kemp.

Josh Baiel and Jessica Nuss won first place in piano solos. Two trios, two quartets, two sextets, and one large ensemble also won first in singing at the competition in Wheeler.

"Three days before contest our group lost one member. Luckily, Cecilia Heckman and I got Heather Drake to take her place. I was so surprised when we got a first place that I had to go look at the list and double check that we won," said Sophomore Ashley Pierson.

"I've been singing most of my life so I wanted to see how it was to sing in an American choir. What I like the most about this choir is all the different kinds of music we sing, and of course all the people in the choir make it a really enjoyable experience," said Senior Daniel Nordberg.

After practicing for weeks in advance, all choir groups came together to perform a fall concert on October 21. Junior Stacy Kowalsky sang the solo for Mama I'm A Big Girl in the Fall Concert. The rest of the choir performed a well choreographed dance that was directed by Mr. William Darnell. All the girls in choir did a choreographed dance that was a part of the medley Chicago, which was directed by Mrs. Hallie Chicki. The choir also did a Christmas program on December 15, which combined the middle school and high school choirs, and finally, they had a spring choir celebration on May 13.

142 Cinderella

I never realized how hard it was to fall in love every night," said Junior David Plant, who played the Prince in the play Cinderella.

Losing A Glass Slipper

For four nights, Cinderella, a children's fairy tale story, became real. Many students, staff members, and parents enjoyed participating in the production of the musical.

"It was a fun experience playing the evil stepsister, Portia. It was lots of hard work, but tons of fun," said Sophomore Erica Underwater.

Participants in the play had practice every night before the opening night. The stage crew dressed and acted like mice when they changed the set. "It was fun and interesting. I've never been in a play before, so it was a fun experience," said Freshman Nicole Brown, who played the part of a townspeople.

Being in Cinderella proved to be a great opportunity to meet new people. Many students enjoyed interacting with a variety of students as they all came together as one big team.

"It was a great experience. I met tons of new people, and I had an awesome time," said Sophomore Carrielle Baumgarte, after playing the part of a ball guest.

Opening night on February 27 played to a nearly full house. Presale tickets for the four night event numbered 1,360 tickets, which included free on stage bloopers.

"Plenty of mistakes happen, but that is why I love theater! I slipped during 'In My Own Little Corner' and crashed into a wall. I also went to the ball without gloves," said Senior Katie Nuss.

"David Plant (the prince) was supposed to start a scene onstage with me, and when he came onstage, he started with his opening line, 'I know it belongs to her!' And I simply replied, 'What?'," added Junior Andrew Naughton, who played the King.

Even people who were just able to watch the dress rehearsal said that the play looked entertaining. After every performance the post play crowd said that the crew and Mrs. Jill Steiner did a fantastic job. Every night a child begged to meet the prince, or one could hear a child cry, "Cinderella, Cinderella." For them, it was a magical night in the KV Kingdom.

Drama/Speech

Two clubs that taught students to express themselves were Drama and Speech. Both clubs showed the students that they could be whoever they wanted to be by acting it out in a play, or demonstrating it in a speech.

Sponsored by Mrs. Jill Steiner, Drama Club did many plays as well as skits and shows.

On October 17 and 18, drama members performed Thornton Wilder's Our Town in cooperation with Samuel French, Inc. Directed by Mrs. Jill Steiner with her assistant Justin Steiner, the Pulitzer Prize-winning play depicted the daily life of a small town in Grover's Corner, New Hampshire. Senior Nicole Granger who played Emily Webb said, "The play had something for everyone because it was a simple story about life." The three-act play was geared for all ages, across all times, and centered on the lives of common people in all places. Actors and crew members worked for weeks for the final production to be ready.

For four nights, drama also performed the play Cinderella. The play brought in a lot of people selling a total of 1,360 tickets. Freshman Matthew Profrock said, "I liked Cinderella because we had a lot of stuff to work on." Music was under the direction of Mr. Tom Adamson.

Improv, a way for teens to get involved, was a way for students who normally could not commit the time to a full length show to still be a part of a comedy. Going strong for seven years, Improv started in the spring of 1998 when 'Whose Line Is It Anyways' was very popular. Students made up teams, and acted out different games together for points. Winning teams were chosen by the audience applause, with The Dislexic Phonix Teachers winning the first night and the Lover-Haters winning the second night.

Mr. Justin Steiner sponsored the Speech Club. Students got to express their views and opinions on things going on in their daily life, and in the media, while improving their speaking skills.

Express Yourself

Expression was the key in the Art and Mirage Clubs. Mrs. Nancy Klockow headed the Art Club, while Ms. Melodi Belei headed the Mirage Club. Both clubs gave students a chance to express themselves through art.

In the Art Club the members did numerous activities. For Halloween members carved pumpkins and made shrunken heads out of apples. Senior Aubrey Voyles said "My favorite activity was definitely the pumpkin carving and making the shrunken heads."

For Christmas students made glass ornaments. Other activities included tie-dyeing, oragami and making cards for the troops. On May 13, the art show was held. Drawings, sculptures, pictures, ceramics and many other works of art were hung throughout the auditorium and the main hallway. Senior Aubrey Voyles won best in show.

Mirage was all about drawing, writing, and taking pictures. When Senior Jennifer Klunder was asked her favorite thing about Mirage she replied,

"Ms. Belei, because she is the funniest person alive!" Students in this club expressed themselves not only through their art, but also through their writing. Mirage stayed busy with meetings every Thursday after school.

Even students who weren't in Mirage were encouraged to contribute any of their drawings, pictures, or writings. "I think it's a real good outlet for student writing, and I wish I could muster up more student interest," commented Ms. Belei. Towards the end of April a poetry contest was held. Freshman Chelsea Castillo took home the first and second place awards for her work.

Every year Mirage publishes a magazine called "Mirage". Junior Lindsay Craig was the art cover winner. The magazine was packed front to back with all of the drawings, pictures, and writings that had been collected. At the end of the year the magazine was put out for sale. Ms. Belei and the members used some of the profits from the sale to contribute to their end of the year pizza party.

It has taught me how to become a better public speaker and how to be more prepared for the real world. The leadership skills I have learned will help me in my future."

Some of the things they did were community work for people that either could not do it or needed the help. This club also set a goal which was to participate in the District Creed Speaking contest.

One of the most publicized events that FFA has accomplished was the Sweet Heart award. This was one of the biggest turnouts. It was held at a varsity basketball game. Winner of the Sweet Heart award was Junior

Members of FCCLA plant a memory garden in the courtyard in the shape of the breast cancer symbol during National Breast Cancer Week in memory of those who died of breast cancer.

FCCLA/BPA

FCCLA (Family Career Community Leaders of America) worked to help our community. This year alone, members planted flowers in the shape of the breast cancer symbol to remember breast cancer victims during National Breast Cancer Week. Girls who were also in the Vocational Childhood Care Class went to DeMotte Elementary and read books that they made to the students. They also provided money to students whose homes burned down, to help them to get set up again.

Another major event was the FCCLA "Spirit Week:" Monday- "P.J. and bad hair day;" Tuesday- "Find your heart," when ten hearts were hidden around the school and if you found one, you received a prize; Wednesday- "King of Hearts," when the man with the most hearts, David Thompson, won a $25 gift certificate to Lowes Theater; Thursday- "Career Day," and Friday- "Red/White Day." FCCLA normally attended a district meeting twice a year and a state convention, but Ms. Jennifer Schroeder said, "This year there just wasn't enough student interest."

BPA (Business Professionals of America) helped students to build leadership, business knowledge, and professionalism. The only requirement to be in BPA was that members had to take some form of a business class (keyboarding counted). During the Christmas Season, BPA offered gift wrapping and Santa grams to the student body. They also had a pizza party at the end of the year to say good-bye to the departing seniors.

Members attended the District Leadership Conference at Avon High School and Ivy Tech State College in Valparaiso, and the State Leadership Conference in Indianapolis. Members of BPA learned about the business world and met new and got ideas from people from all regions of the state. "The best part about being in BPA is being able to compete in business related projects. BPA also allows you to meet new people who enjoy doing the same things that you enjoy. Cross Cultures

Foreign Language Club sponsored by Mrs. Irma Coddington allowed students to view and learn about other cultures. Officers were Lindsey Beeching (president), Scott Fieldhouse (vice president), David Plant (secretary), and Nicole Disney (treasurer). They all worked to plan activities that would expose club members to foreign culture.

In the fall, Foreign Language Club participated in Homecoming and entered a float. At Christmas they sang Christmas carols in Spanish, French, and German at the local Senior Citizens' Home. "My most memorable moment was Christmas caroling at a nursing home. Not everyone knew all the languages, so we had some vocal stumbling. We sang in French, German, Spanish and English. It was a lot of fun," said Freshman Andrew Surber.

"One of the most exciting activities that the Foreign Language Club has done was singing Christmas carols in three Members also went to see the Spanish play Don Quixote and the French play Cyrano De Bergerac on Monday April 12 at New Prairie.

"My favorite activity was when we ate food from other countries and danced to foreign music," said Sophomore Rachel Kikkert.

"Joining Foreign Language Club has been the best experience I've had this year. Everyone in the club is very energetic and interested in learning about other cultures," said Junior Justin DeKock.

"We focus a lot on our community as well as our school. My favorite part about TTC was going to the elementary school and making valentines," said senior Ben Durr.

TFC / Memory

Teen Freedom Corps (TFC) and Memory were two of the newest clubs. Many students have joined since they have been established, and the clubs have done many different activities in the short time they have been around.

This year alone, TFC dug right into helping the community and doing projects that were really touching. One of the projects done by this club was nominating a community hero in the area. TFC elected Peg Nick, who has been involved in many beneficial organizations and projects in this area. She has been a six year member and two year chairman of the board at the Crisis Center and holds the annual plant sale to raise money for American Cancer Society. Ben Bryan, who presented the award to her said, "It was a great honor to give the award to Peg."

Another thing that TFC accomplished was going to the DeMotte Elementary to volunteer with helping the kids write their Valentines Day cards to the soldiers overseas. Senior Kacie Woods said, "Making valentines with the youngsters was a super sweet time!"

Most of the club members really got involved, including Senior Anna Gatlin, who said, "TFC is a great organization and a really terrific way to get involved and help people. I am so proud to represent Teen Freedom Corps!"

While TFC was dedicated to helping others, Memory aimed to preserve memories on the pages of scrapbooks. Mrs. Barbara Jackson was the sponsor of this club and was so involved in it she even had meetings at her own house. Mrs. Jackson said, "Memory club is not only about creating a lasting memoir of the high school. It's about self expression, art, and exploring your identity. I get the most satisfaction from helping kids realize their potential which is to express their memories in their own unique way."

Pathfinders/Peer Facilitators

Two clubs that shaped students' futures were Pathfinders and Peer Facilitators. Pathfinders, which has been at KV for many years, helped students share their beliefs with others, while Peer Facilitators, which started in the late 80's, helped students when they struggled in school.

Helping students grow in their Christian faith was what the members of Pathfinders aimed to do. Members of the club celebrated religion and life through song and prayer.

When Pathfinders met, one thing they talked about was fundraisers. Some they did were gathering canned food and toys for kids at Christmas. At meetings, when they prayed and sang worship songs, Sophomore Elizabeth Moran and Juniors Ashley Tillema and Ashley VanKley sang, and Freshman Andrew McKee played the guitar. Speakers often talked about their life experience, and how they felt about God.

"I enjoy Pathfinders because it's great to get together with other Christians at school.

Whether we sing praise songs or listen to speakers, I enjoy the time of fellowship with my friends and classmates," said Junior Jill DeVries.

Sponsored by Mrs. Heather Carey, Peer Facilitators was a program that helped middle school students, as well as high school students. Students in the club tutored students in high school and the middle school. They also tried to help those students in need by talking to them when they needed someone to talk with and making them feel welcome. "There are no presidents because everyone stepped up and became a leader," said Mrs. Carey.

To be part of Peer Facilitators, students had to first sign up or be volunteered. Mrs. Carey then went through the names and looked at the students' grades to make sure they were up to par. Afterwards, students were chosen. Freshman Mary Frederick said she would be in Peer Facilitators again next year. "It's a great experience because you get to help people. I would encourage anyone to join," said Mary.

Newspaper spreads the word

Deadlines, deadlines, and more deadlines! Most students do not like to write papers, but the students on the Newspaper staff volunteered to write stories for our school newspaper, the Spirit.

Staffers had to have three stories done for each deadline, for a paper coming out each month. Students got to stretch themselves intellectually and think about topics they did not usually encounter in other everyday classes. Adviser Mrs. Kathy McKinney said, "As any one of them will tell you, newspaper isn't for everyone. It is hard work and full of stress, but the contacts, friendships, and feeling of accomplishment outweigh the hardship of it all."

After attending summer training at Indiana University, Editors Senior Courtney Grevenstuk and Junior Alexander Warren brought new insights to the Spirit. Their vigilance in developing unique ideas and using new techniques for layout and story ideas gave the paper a fresh new look. "I've been in newspaper since my freshmen year. I like the skills involved with it. The stress is worth the paper," said Junior Alexander Warren.

In February, Miss Susan Huss took over the classroom as a student teacher. In the next two issues, readers saw stories that reflected the world as well as daily school activities. "I like newspaper because I like to write. I do plan on being in newspaper again next year because it is so fun to write stories about people in the media as well as in our own school and community, as well as do interviews," said Sophomore Theodore Noe.

By being exposed to journalism, students in newspaper were offered new career ideas to consider for their future, such as News Reporting, Graphic Design, and Advertising.

Sophomore Heather Drake said, "I really enjoy being in newspaper because I like voicing my opinion and knowing that I've made a difference. We have a lot of fun in this class hanging out in the backroom, and writing stories." Many of the staffers said they would be in newspaper again next year.

*Academic Decathlon was a one of a kind experience. Being a part of the team required a lot of practice.

time, effort, and preparation. Competing in the honors division and actually placing was very exciting and rewarding. *

While at SuperBowl, Sophomore Jazmyn Allen, Juniors David Piani, Anthony Fratticelli, Margaret Wood and Lindsey Beeching and Senior Eprise Armstrong won many awards.

"Academic Decathlon is so fun. It is wonderful that you can compete against each other with what you learn. Not only do you get to learn more, but it's a great way to make new friends. 'Knowledge is power!' said Sophomore Jazmyn Allen after getting interviewed by Mrs. McKinney during the Regional Conference in January.

"Academic Decathlon was fun because the teachers were really enthusiastic about teaching us," said Senior Eprise Armstrong.

When it came to brains, the Kougars reached out not only into their classrooms, but also their community as well. In December and January volunteers from the entire district helped make the area decathlon run smoothly.

Spell Bowl team coached by Mr. Ladd and Ms. Belei placed 5th at the Northwest Hoosier Academic Conference competition. Top spellers were Emily Penninga (8/9 words right), Ashton DeVries and James Lewandowski (7/9 words right). They placed 3rd at the Rensselaer Invitational. Top spellers were Ashton DeVries (8/9 words right), and Emily Penninga, Nicole Disney, and Melissa Easto (7/9 words right).

"My most memorable moment in Spellbowl was when we didn't have a full team and tried to make random people come and spell with us," said Sophomore Emily Penninga.

Academic Decathlon team placed 2nd at the Northwest Hoosier Conference Decathlon in November. Brandon Patton placed 2nd in the Varsity Division. At the regional competition in January, the team placed third in the small school division and Katie Nuss placed third in the Scholastic division. Eprise Armstrong was 9th in the Scholastic Division, Jasmyn Allen and Veronica Malocha placed 8th and 9th in the Varsity division and, Maire Gurevitz, Jennifer Chernowsky and Tony Fraticelli placed 6th, 8th, and 9th respectively in the honors division.

"Winning 3rd in State Competition for Math and Speech took time and effort, but in the end it was worth it," said Junior Anthony Fraticelli.

"My favorite memory was the team trip to Chicago. We visited the Field Museum, the Museum of Science and Industry, the Art Museum, and the Hancock Building. We ate at The Cheesecake Factory. The best part was the dinner at the Cheesecake Factory. We were all at the table telling stories before our dinners were served. Mr. Heid (Head academic coach) told a funny story about my brother. We all had time to become more than teammates. We became friends. That whole year was a ton of fun," said Senior Veronica Malocha.

SADD/Senior Leaders

Teaching kids to be safe was one of the goals both SADD and Senior Leaders had to accomplish. Being in Senior Leaders, you must help the incoming Freshmen with fundamentals, dress code, rules of the school and even about lunch time do's and don't's. In SADD they helped show the consequences of bad decisions.

While in Senior Leaders, Seniors worked hard to help the incoming Freshmen and tried even harder to show them a good time. Senior Jon Estill enjoyed the time that he had with the underclassmen, "I enjoyed helping the Freshmen start their year off. It was fun getting to know the lower class."

Seniors did certain activities with the Freshmen, and sometimes the teachers jumped in, to join the fun and help out the Freshmen. Senior Bailee Serocinski remembered the day quite well, "We played fun games and showed the Freshmen around the Valley. We not only got to learn about our Freshmen, but our class really came together as one. After all Kougars do hunt in packs."

While in SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions), teens worked on awareness with students of the dangers of drinking and drugs. Sophomore Rachel Kikkert said, "Doing SADD is a great club to take a stand against negative issues in society." SADD helped students realize what the consequences would be if you make the wrong choice.

In the mock car crash that SADD put on, many students looked on in disgust with how the teenagers in the car were portrayed. Senior Jennifer Allen, Juniors Joseph Peretin and Bertil Valenkamph, and Sophomore Emma Cunningham all played the roles of the students in the car that was struck by the drunken driver who was played by Principal Robert Prescott. Many students took to heart what they saw. At the State Convention Sophomore Allison Plopper won a palm pilot and Senior Amber Cooper, won a cell phone with a year free unlimited use.

Student Council

Students always wanted to have a say in what events happened at school. Student Council was a club that allowed students to make those decisions.

Although all of the ideas that students suggested were discussed and voted on, four people in addition to Sponsors Mrs. Heather Carey and Mrs. Nancy Valenkamph had the final say. Those four people were President Senior Devin Dorn, Vice President Junior Megan Passaloukos, Secretary Senior Megan Kwasniewski, and Treasurer Sophomore Clarisa Bonilla who also won the election for District I representative.

"Student Council is what you make of it. It is fun if you make it fun, just like anything else in life," said Senior Josh Wierzbza.

Student Council went to a lot of fun places including Notre Dame where they received a tour and watched a hockey game. Many members of Student Council also enjoyed hosting the District I convention at which students from about 20 different schools came and discussed what events they did at their school, and all the schools shared information to help improve their schools. "I enjoy Student Council because it helps you to make new friends, and although it takes work sometimes, it pays off in the end," said Senior Veronica Nikolas.

In addition to Homecoming activities, Student Council sponsored lunch with the principals, lunch activities, District Conference, Dinner on the Deck, Oscars, Kouts exchange, Scavenger hunt for the Crisis Center, Walk for Alzheimers Victims, Washington Exchange, and buckets to help defray medical expenses for Joe Nimetz and Jeff McMillan. They also attended the State Convention at Center Grove High School.

"It's a great feeling to be involved in something that has the potential to really make a difference. That's what our main goal always is..." said Junior Dyanna Hamstra.

Topping off the year, Sophomore Clarisa Bonilla and Junior Bertil Carl Valenkamph attended the National Student Council Convention in Las Vegas from June 23-30.

Student Council planted an evergreen tree on 9/11 at noon and released yellow balloons as a symbol of hope and peace. They chose an evergreen tree to plant because evergreen trees represent eternal life. The tree was planted to honor the victims of 9/11. Junior Megan Passaloukos, along with Principal Mr. Philip Apple, planted the tree with assistance from a Representative from Countryside. "September 11, 'when the world turned,' was a terrible, terrible event for America. What better way to remember America than to plant a tree and allow it to grow. A tree for life and strength. Thank you Student Council for this remembrance," said Mr. Apple. Many students and faculty watched Megan and Mr. Apple plant the tree, and each attendee received a balloon to release at noon.

Student Council

Creating memories to cherish, Student Council held many events during first semester, but they held just as many during second semester. During second semester some end of the year events for seniors were Kiss a Senior 'goodbye,' senior little helper, and the painting of the senior wall. These events were a message of farewell to seniors and good luck.

Other events Student Council held was the Crowning of Mr. Kougar, during half time of a basketball game. "I was really honored to be selected by my fellow classmates to represent the sophomore class at the crowning of Mr. Kougar. It was very fun and exciting," said Sophomore Benjamin Stein.

In addition to hosting the area Council meeting and the Snowball Dance, many students 17 and older plus faculty donated pints of blood while watching movies to help someone else in need of blood.

Winter Wonder Fest

While the fall athletes had Homecoming to honor their achievements, winter athletes had Winterfest, which was sponsored by Student Council from February 16-20. With different dress-up days, penny wars, a pep session, and the Snowball dance, Winterfest helped revive school spirit when it seemed winter would never end.

Winterfest week began with a Tom Sawyer day on Tuesday, followed by a Mix and Match day, and Superhero day, and the week ended with an '80s dress up day. Penny wars and karaoke were popular lunchtime activities. Karaoke finalists were able to perform at the pep session. Four group finalists performed one minute of their songs. One of the finalists, Senior Amanda Bonilla, remarked, "It was a lot of fun getting in front of the school and letting everyone get a good laugh." Winners could have received a winter prize package, but no group was chosen as the winner.

Crowning of Mr. Kougat was also a highlight. Nominees were Freshmen Mark Melton, Sophomore Ben Stein, Junior Jeremy Kunzman, and Seniors Mychael King, Joshua Wierzb, Joseph Whitaker, and Shawn Davidson, who was the winner. His sister, Junior Megan Davidson said, "I was really proud of him...when his name was called, everyone was cheering, and that made me happy."

Juniors and Seniors were able to participate in Spikedown, a volleyball game in which the Junior boys played against the Senior boys. Although they had a shaky start, the Senior boys pulled through and won. Senior Devin Dorn recalled, "It was a lot of fun and winning was a bonus because we expected the Juniors to win. We decided to beat them, and we did." At the end of the game, the final score was Seniors 2 games, and Juniors 1 game.

Sunshine Sells

Although Sunshine sponsored usual activities such as the Sunshine Dance, food drives, Christmas stocking donations, Super Senior dinner and plaques, Senior Award Night refreshments, and Honor Roll rewards, they also experienced change in this community based club.

To be in the club, members had to complete several service projects. If the teen wanted to attend the annual dance, he/she had to sell at least 10 items from the fundraiser. Senior Megan Diaz said, "My strategy for selling my items is to hit up all the teachers first! I did that this year, and six out of the ten I needed to sell were from them."

One of the biggest changes was the lack of participation at certain activities. Even the Mother/Daughter Dessert Bar was cancelled due to the lack of interest. Mrs. Price said, "I was very sorry to see the lack of interest in the Ideal Lady Mother/Daughter Dessert Bar. It has always turned out to be a nice evening for the girls and their mothers. We had no choice but to cancel since the total number of girls and ideal persons coming was only 38 people."

The girls did however show interest in other things such as the hayride in October, the stocking collection in December, the shoe drive in February, the Easter egg hunt in April, the Riley Hospital Fundraiser, and the Oak Grove 50's Party.

Many girls completed service projects throughout the year to stay an active member of the club. The basic services that were completed were baby-sitting, helping the elderly, participating in the food drives and helping to clean the community. Junior Theresa Cruickshank said, "I went and helped my next door neighbor with her yard work, because she is really really old, and couldn't really do it herself. Even though it was hard work, it still felt good to do something to help her out."

Sponsors of the club were Mrs. Lynn Ginzer and Mrs. Pat Price.

Fabulously Fun Facts!

*Once again, Sunshine Club held a doypat breakfast on December 19.

Sunshine Sponsor Mrs. Price said, "We have the breakfast to support food pantries and to have teens help out in the community. We got rid of 75 dozen doypats and collected 500 cans of food and $500."

While cooling down before they start dancing again, seniors Kacie Woods, Jonathon Misura, and Jon Estill sit and talk with their peers. Sunshine Dance was the second largest dance at KV and was the only other formal besides Prom.

As they watch other people dance, Sophomores Carly Rice and Brandy DeVries laugh at an event that happened earlier on in the evening. "The Sunshine Dance was a crazy night, and I had a lot of fun dancing with all of my friends," said Carly Rice.

"I love to go to the Sunshine Dance every year because you can dance with your date and all your friends!" said Junior Scott Hoffman while dancing with Senior Courtney Grevenstuk.

Sunshine Activities

Another year of school meant another Sunshine dance and more community services for the Sunshine Club. Sophomore Alicia Anderson, one Sunshine member who did a community service project, replied, "My friend and I were waitresses for a church party. It was a good experience, and I loved it. If they have it next year, I will definitely sign up for it again!"

Sunshine contributed to the community in many ways. "Share Your Soles-Shoe Drive" was held in February. Students collected shoes to be sent over seas. Canned food, money, and presents were donated to the food pantry and/or the miracle tree for underprivileged families. For Christmas, members donated 150 stockings and fruit baskets to hospitals, in order to help hospitalized children and senior citizens enjoy the holiday.

To be able to be in Sunshine, a fee of $10 had to be paid, along with performing five acts of community service. Favorite community services included baby-sitting kids for free, taking mission trips, raking leaves, cleaning people's homes, or running errands for the elderly.

Mrs. Pat Price Sunshine sponsor said, "Most people join the Sunshine Club just to go to the dance and still do that today. That's why not a lot of Seniors joined this year." The dance was held on November 8. Sunshine officers Alison Jonkman (President), Ashley Liston (Vice President), Stephanie Kikkert (Treasurer), and Heather Zylstra (Secretary) decided to have a South Pacific Serenade theme. Decorations were picked out and put up by a business called KV Creations. Members chose Laurie as their DJ.

When asked about helping plan the Sunshine Dance, Stephanie Kikkert, said, "Although it's not the key factor, the Sunshine Dance is an awesome bonus for a Sunshine Club member. The hot music and incredible decorations spice up the night, but it's all about the people and atmosphere."

*Assisting Mrs. McKinney in her English and Journalism classes was Ms. Huss, a College student.

Ms. Huss was a Senior at Saint Joseph's College. She majored in English and student taught for 14 weeks.

1. I love being in yearbook. I have learned so much responsibility since I became Sports Editor. This class has made my Senior year better than I thought it could be.
"Senior Amber Cooper"

2. I love yearbook because you get to meet a lot of new people. It teaches you responsibility, and it's a lot of fun. The best thing about yearbook is you can be yourself.
"Junior Samantha Phillips"

3. I learned so much in Yearbook. It has been so much fun working on spreads and learning how to do things I didn't know how to do. I'm looking forward to next year.
"Freshman Daine Willis"

4. Being in yearbook has opened my eyes to how important it is for everyone to work together and how much behind the scenes work is done that no one notices.
"Junior Rachel Yach"

5. Yearbook has changed my life in so many ways. I can't wait to be an Editor-in-Chief next year and improve my skills. I have grown up so much since I started this class.
"Sophomore Ashley Pierson"

By:
Amanda Thompson

Working in class, Junior Samantha Moran writes captions for her practice spread. The new students had to do a practice spread before they could work on a spread for the yearbook.

Yearbook teaches leadership

Although the people who understood the fundamentals of yearbook were few and far between, there were those special students who devoted their time to putting an award-winning book together.

The class consisted of twenty-one girls and one boy, all of whom added their own unique personalities to the group. Junior Jessie Fuqua said, "Since I've been in yearbook, I've been more self confident. I learned that I can be myself, and I don't have to pretend to be someone else for people to like me. It's all about being you."

Starting the school year out with a bang, ten students, old and new, went on a two day trip to Franklin College for a state convention. At the convention, Senior Amber Cooper won the Harvey Award for best sports photography. "It was so exciting to win the Harvey Award. When they called my name, I didn't believe it at first. It was a great experience," said Amber. After returning to the school, staffers got down to work designing a top yearbook. Editors-in-Chief Courtney Grevenstuk and Amanda Schaper got to work setting things up for the year, as the Section Editors Ashley Miller, Amber Cooper, Amanda Thompson, Ashley Pierson, April Killion, and Cheryl Matthews went to work designing and assigning spreads and assigning deadlines. In February, the staff was told it received a first place in State competition and was being considered for the coveted Hoosier Star.

In March, additional honors were celebrated when the National Scholastic Press Association gave the staff a first place award with an added distinction for photography. Senior Amanda Schaper said, "A quality yearbook is all about having a quality staff. It takes all your free time, and that includes coming back to school after graduation! Even though it's a lot of hard work, we all manage to have a lot of fun!"

In addition to creating the book and winning awards, the staff funded the book by selling carnations, teddy bears, and pictures for Valentine's Day. They also sold pizza, yearbooks, and ads.

is for

For over 30 years, KV has seen many people come and go. Twenty five years ago Mr. George Post added the Super Senior program and valedictorian photo area. High school is filled with new experiences that incoming freshmen and leaving seniors share. Everyone makes his own memories that makes high school unique. As it is quoted in the 1978 KV yearbook, "And suddenly I realize...although time has flown, the past, trapped in memories, is always my own." We are KV!

Colophon

Kougar Pride, volume 34, was produced by the yearbook class at Kankakee Valley High School in Wheatfield IN, and printed by Herff Jones yearbooks in Mission, Kansas.

The account was serviced by representative Lisa Keene and In-plant account executive Lisa Marino.

The cover was designed by Courtney R. Groves and Amanda L. Schaper and incorporates four color litho on 160 pt permocote base with gloss lamination. The name plates were red. The endpapers were printed vibra color white paper with colonial red and brown ink.

The yearbook's 2000 pages were printed on 80 pound bordeaux stock. The 2004 volume includes 30 pages in full color.

All body copy was set in variegated type font in 10 and 12. All type was set by pagemaster. The pride was composed using Microsoft on five IBM compatible computers.

More than 1800 frames of color film were shot by staff members using one 35 mm Pentax and one 35 mm Canon. Processing and printing were done by Tyson's Interstate Studios headed by Steve and Deanna Kirk provided portraits. The 500 copies were sold at prices ranging from $40-$80, depending on purchase date. Pride is a member of NSPA, JEA, Q & S, and IHSPA. ANY ERRORS ARE ABSOLUTELY NONINTENTIONAL!!!

Too dirty to clean our clothes up...

On Wednesday, May 26, Student Council hosted an end of the year "Field Day" from 1-3 p.m. Activities including pudding and Jell-o slip-and-slide, dunk a teacher, tug-o-war, and Red Rover were played across the football field and surrounding areas.

Dunking a teacher cost students .25 for one ball, or $1 for five balls. Profits helped pay for the tank cost of $200. Mrs. Roberts, Mr. Gray, Mr. Hostetler, Ms. Howard, and Mr. Sterret were among those dunked to the loss of $100.

"I didn't have many people who wanted to dunk me, but when Jessi Nuss dunked me, it was enjoyable," said Mrs. Judy Roberts. Other students lined up to slide in pudding and Jell-o or to toss a cow's tongue around the field.

Senior Kacie Woods said, "It's in my eyes! It's slimy diving in a big pool of junk. I'm not good at the sliding stuff. I just don't get it."

Local fire fighters and cops supervised, while some helped spray down messy students with hoses.

"The water was FREEZING, and my arms are still covered in Jell-o!" said Senior Jarvey Harris.

Students were dismissed at 3:10 in order to clean up. Many students enjoyed the day, which was the first field day in over four years.

"It was really messy, and I can't believe that I actually dove into a pile of pudding. It was gross, but I'll never forget that day," commented Junior Brittany Luketic.

For Junior Gentry Brown, this was his first high school field day. Gentry said, "My favorite part of field day was sliding down the jello and pudding slip-n slide. I went out there to have fun, and that is what I did, but the jello and pudding mix smelled so bad." Gentry went on to say, "I also loved throwing all the clean people in the mud pit."

Another event that took place later in the afternoon was the mattress races. Carrying Senior Eric Bakrevski, was Seniors Scott Osborn, Thomas Lesczynski, and Joshua Wierzb. Eric said, "My biggest fear was on my left side. Josh was holding that side up, and he isn't the strongest lad, and I was the heaviest. Plus I smelled like banana pudding." Adding to that comment Scott said "That track was so hot that I thought my feet were going to burn off."

As our lives change, we'll remember....

For some, it was the last walk down the halls, the last trip to English class, the last Algebra class, and the last year of high school. It seemed goodbyes rang loudly as seniors said farewell to their high school lives. Many tributes were given to the seniors.

One of the most popular was the painting of senior blocks, located in the Social Studies hallway. Seniors stayed after school on many days, including May 17, from 3:30 until 7:00 in order to complete their blocks. There were many different styles. Some just put names on them, while others drew pictures to depict activities they were in during high school.

Some other activities included a 16 page senior edition of the Spirit, the school paper which usually ran eight pages. Inside it featured Senior Superlatives, where seniors voted on titles like "Most likely to be President" and "Best Vehicle."

Winner of "Next Bill Gates", Mark Terborg, said, "It's great to know that my class has picked up on my personality these past four years." The paper also had "Goodbye to a senior," where any student could put a goodbye message in the paper for $ 0.25.

Also for a quarter, Student Council hosted "Kiss a Senior Goodbye, where seniors received a Hershey Kiss and a message from a friend.

With everything students and friends did to say goodbye, some seniors found it quite difficult to leave. Deanna Polus said, "I'm sad that it's finally over, but that's what it is. Over."

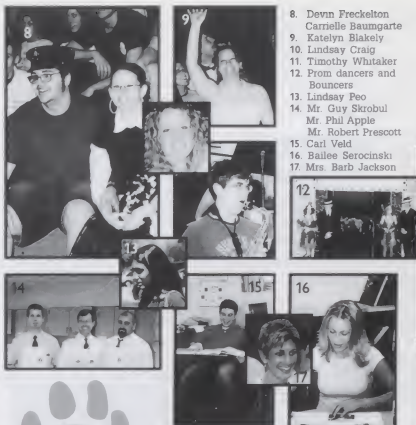

Before starting horticulture class, Junior Rebeca Bledsoe goes out to the greenhouse to water the flowers. Every spring the class sold the flowers and plants to the teachers. This spring they sold petunias, marigolds, and perennials for $10. The money that they have earned goes back into the greenhouse fund for next year.

Engaged in a heated debate, fifth hour speech I class is giving their panel discussion on the death penalty. Seniors Brooke Owens, Danielle Brubaker were against the death penalty, Mikhail Baker and Junior Bryan Sisco were for the death penalty. Junior Allison Kliceck was the group leader. Danielle said, "I liked doing this discussion because it was fun to win arguments against Mikhail."

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 1999). The prevalence of mental health problems has increased in the general population, and the incidence of mental health problems has increased in the prison population.

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the mental health needs of prisoners. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for mental health services, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of prisoners. The Department of Health (1999) has also published a strategy for mental health services, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of prisoners.
